Our state government spends $300 million annually on corporate welfare, or as those in government prefer to call it, "economic development," then it debates how to pay for fixing the roads. Gov. Snyder: Regional unemployment drop shows continued statewide improvement

Michigan. The comeback is happening and it's not isolated to one region or industry. It truly is a comeback for all of Michigan. Mark Schauer's Failing Grade On Education

Equal pay for equal work — it only makes sense, right? No matter if you're a man or a woman, if you're doing a job, then that job should be paid fairly. Specialized support for at-risk students is effective

""Ms. Lewis invested time in her students and leveraged community resources from businesses, churches and even people in her personal circle. With the opportunities she presented me, Ms. Lewis opened my eyes to see that there was so much more to life than the neighborhood I lived in. Ms. Lewis was not just another high school counselor or another person with a title or position. She was a friend, a mother and a community developer. Ms. Lewis could relate to my peers in a way that other school staff could not, and more importantly, she was willing to advocate for students. I found myself referring my peers to the program all of the time."

Participants will detail the problem with a higher mandatory minimum wage, explain why Democrats' pledge to boost the federally-mandated wage nearly 40 percent is an inefficient way to help families on the brink and what it would mean for businesses, the labor market, and the economy at large."

Rep. Kildee: So-called free trade is not in Michigan's best interests

When on the brink of collapse, Congress and the Obama administration bet on American workers. Since that time, tens of thousands of good-paying automotive manufacturing jobs have been created or saved, fueling our nation's manufacturing growth. In April, 12,000 manufacturing jobs were created — 10,900 alone by the automotive industry. Since 2010, 647,000 manufacturing jobs have been added nationwide. Every day, American companies are making world-class automobiles, creating jobs and selling more cars here and across the globe."

Water filters available for MDHHS clients, all Flint residents beginning Tuesday

LANSING, Mich. – Free water filters will be available to current Michigan Department of Health and Human Services clients and Flint residents at four locations beginning Tuesday, October 6, at 9 a.m. through a partnership between the MDHHS and the Genesee County Community Action Resource Department. Free National Sanitation Foundation certified water filters are being provided to Flint residents as part of the administration's comprehensive approach to addressing water concerns in the area.

Current MDHHS clients are encouraged to visit either the 125 E. Union St. or 4809 Clio Road MDHHS office location to obtain a free, certified home water filter. Residents who are not currently enrolled in MDHHS assistance programs should visit the Genesee County Community Action Resource Department offices located at 2727 Lippincott and 601 North Saginaw in Flint. Staff will be onsite at all four locations from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, to distribute filters and assist residents who have questions about proper installation.

"Ensuring that families in the Flint area have access to resources that will help reduce the potential for lead exposure is our top priority," said Nick Lyon, director of the MDHHS. "I want to thank our partners who have mobilized to make water filters available – a point that highlights the importance of continued collaboration at the local, state and federal level as we move forward."

MDHHS clients in the city of Flint who are active Family Independence Program (FIP), Food Assistance Program (FAP), Child Development and Care (CDC), State Disability Assistance (SDA), or Social Security Insurance (SSI) recipients should bring valid identification and a copy of their water bill to their local MDHHS office to receive their filter free of charge. Flint residents who are not active MDHHS clients should bring identification and their water bill to the GCCARD location.

Although blood lead levels throughout the city of Flint have remained steady, last week, MDHHS data was found to be consistent with a recent Hurley Children's Hospital study indicating increased blood lead levels in children residing in two Flint ZIP codes after a 2014 change in water source. While lead paint remains the number one cause of lead poisoning in Michigan, the recent data prompted MDHHS to take action to reduce potential lead exposures through water sources.

MDHHS is urging parents in Flint and throughout the state to do their part in preventing elevated blood lead levels in children. For more information about steps you can take now, visit www.michigan.gov/lead, or contact your local health department. MDHHS releases latest data outlining blood lead levels in Flint

Follow-up care, case management resources continue for families

LANSING, Mich. – Preliminary data indicates that 30 of 1,361 adults and children tested in Flint since October 1 had elevated blood lead levels, according to a report issued today by the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services.

This marks the first summary report on lead testing called for in the state's action plan related to health concerns about Flint's water infrastructure.

"Our goal is to help families reduce their exposure to lead sources," said Dr. Eden Wells, MDHHS chief medical executive. "We have made progress in testing and identifying those with elevated blood lead levels, and the department will continue to work closely with the Genesee County Health Department to reach these families. We will remain diligent in our ongoing outreach and education efforts."

Information comes from tests administered citywide to 1,361 children and adults since October 1. Tests showed that 21 of 969 children age 17 or younger and 9 of 392 adults over the age 18 were identified with elevated blood lead levels.

The report covers test results reported to MDHHS since the state action plan was put in place Oct.

2. It includes the number of tests and number of elevated blood lead levels greater than 5 micrograms per deciliter, and captures both capillary and venous blood tests that have been reported to MDHHS since the beginning of October. People who have had multiple tests are counted only once. Five micrograms per deciliter is the level that the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention considers elevated and triggers health care professional follow up with families.

The full report is posted online at www.michigan.gov/flintwater and will be updated as more data becomes available.

When reviewing historical trend data, the risk of lead exposure is highest during the third quarter of each year – July through September. Seasonal variation is the result of a number of factors including increased exposure to lead in dust and soil in the summer months.

In the third quarter of 2010, 8.3 percent of Flint children 6 and under showed elevated blood lead levels. The figure gradually decreased to 4.1 percent in the third quarter of 2013. During the same months in 2014, the figure increased to 7.5 percent and decreased to 6.4 percent in the third quarter of 2015.

Last month, MDHHS collaborated with the county health department and local partners to distribute educational resources and informational letters to Flint parents regarding lead testing. The state is providing funding for GCHD nurses to work with families when an elevated blood lead level has been detected. During these follow-up visits, nurses coordinate with environmental health investigators to meet with families in their homes to identify lead exposures, address questions and provide water filters. People can be exposed to lead from paint, soil, plumbing and other sources.

MDHHS continues to provide free water filters and replacement cartridges to Flint residents at four locations, including the MDHHS Flint offices and the Genesee County Community Action Resource Department. For a full list of locations and hours of distribution, visit www.michigan.gov/flintwater.

To help residents properly install water filters, and to demonstrate how to replace the original when it expires, MDHHS has created an instructional video on its YouTube channel. For updates, visit www.michigan.gov/flintwater.

Updated summary report on Flint blood lead level data now available

LANSING, Mich. – The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services today issued its bi-weekly summary report on lead testing in Flint. Preliminary data indicate that 43 of 2,182 adults and children tested had elevated blood lead levels since Oct. 1.

"In partnership with the Genesee County Health Department, we are working to engage and provide resources to residents to reduce all potential exposures to lead," said Dr. Eden Wells, MDHHS chief medical executive. "Case management and home lead analysis are available for families in which an elevated blood lead level has been detected."

The first MDHHS summary report on blood lead levels in Flint was issued Dec. 3, 2015. Updated reports are posted on a bi-weekly basis on the www.michigan.gov/flintwater website. After refining our methods to identify age, some people are now counted in a different age group than on previous reports. The total counts for each year have not changed.

The report includes both capillary and venous blood tests, and people who have had multiple tests are counted only once. Tests and their results cover the time since the state action plan was put in place on Oct. 2, and capture the number of elevated blood lead levels greater than 5 micrograms per deciliter.

MDHHS, together with the Genesee County Health Department (GCHD), is working with local partners to distribute educational information around lead testing and prevention. Supplemental state dollars are funding GCHD nurses to work with families when an elevated blood lead level is detected.

Families with an elevated blood lead level can also choose to have a nurse coordinate an environmental health investigation in their home to help identify lead exposures, which could be lead from paint, soil, plumbing, and other sources. Families with questions about their blood lead levels or test results are also encouraged to contact their primary care physician or local health department.

In addition to mandated testing at ages one and two for the Medicaid population, MDHHS is coordinating with its Medicaid health plans and provider communities to recommend blood lead testing for any child younger than six years of age in Flint who has not previously been tested. The state, in coordination with GCHD, developed and issued a Health Alert Network (HAN) notification for local providers to help ensure consistent messaging and protocols among primary care providers.

Free water filters and replacement cartridges are available to Flint residents. For a full list of locations and hours of distribution, or to view the full blood lead level report, visit www.michigan.gov/flintwater. The summary will be updated as more data becomes available.

To help residents properly install water filters, and to demonstrate how to replace the original when it expires, MDHHS has created an instructional video on its YouTube channel. For this and other updates, visit www.michigan.gov/flintwater.

State offering extended, weekend hours for water filter distribution at Lippincott GCCARD

Nearly 5,000 NSF certified filters issued by MDHHS to Flint residents since Monday

LANSING, Mich. – Flint residents and Michigan Department of Health and Human Services clients with a city of Flint water bill will now be able to take advantage of extended hours this Thursday, Friday, and Saturday at the Genesee County Community Action Resource Department 2727 Lippincott location. Extended hours will be offered at the Lippincott facility only, and will run until 7 p.m. on Thursday and Friday, and from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday. The other three locations will maintain 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. operating hours, Monday through Friday, for filter pick up.

Dr. Eden Wells, MDHHS chief medical executive, reemphasized that the Brita SAFF-100 filters being distributed by the department and GCCARD do meet the NSF/ANSI 53 standards for drinking water treatment units.

“The Brita faucet filtration system that we are distributing to residents are National Sanitation Foundation certified to reduce lead in drinking water,” said Dr. Eden Wells. “When connected appropriately, these filters improve water quality by filtering out contaminates including lead, chlorine, benzene and other chemicals."

Since Monday when MDHHS announced that free water filters would be distributed at four Flint locations, the state and GCCARD have partnered to issue approximately 5,000 free NSF certified water filters to residents that are on the city of Flint water system. The distribution of filters is part of the administration's comprehensive approach to addressing water concerns in the area. These NSF certified water filters remove lead in the water administered through water taps in homes.

MDHHS clients and residents with a city of Flint water bill may take advantage of the extended hours at the Lippincott GCCARD. During the regular business hours, MDHHS clients are encouraged to visit either the 125 E. Union St. or 4809 Clio Road MDHHS office location; residents on Flint water who are not currently enrolled in MDHHS assistance programs should visit the GCCARD offices at 2727 Lippincott and 601 North Saginaw. Staff will be onsite at all four locations to distribute filters and assist residents who have questions about proper installation.

MDHHS clients in the city of Flint who are active recipients should bring valid identification and a copy of their water bill to their local MDHHS office. Flint residents who are not active MDHHS clients should bring identification and their city of Flint water bill to a GCCARD location.

MDHHS is urging all residents do their part to prevent elevated blood lead levels in children. For more information on prevention, visit www.michigan.gov/lead, or contact your local health department. For updates on Flint water and resources, visit www.michigan.gov/flintwater.

Legislative Black Caucus Calls For A State of Emergency In Flint

The Michigan Legislative Black Caucus (MLBC) today joined new Flint Mayor Karen WEAVER and the Flint City Council in urging Gov. Rick SNYDER to issue a State of Emergency to address the continuing health concerns caused by the increased lead levels in their water.

"Water is a basic human right," said Rep. LaTanya GARRETT (D-Detroit) said. “Many of our urban communities have succumbed to various water issues. We have a due diligence to work tirelessly to provide relief to our citizens.”

However, Snyder told Michigan Public Radio that he's not sure that the situation in Flint fits in the "quote-unquote 'established' criteria" of how the federal government would define a natural disaster.

Flint has stopped pulling water from the Flint River and has hooked back onto the Detroit water supply, but there continues to be reports and studies that indicate the presence of coliform bacteria and high levels of lead in the city's drinking water, the caucus argues.

Blood samples of Genesee County children -- taken before and after the city ended its contract with the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department (DWSD) and began using Flint River water -- showed that the number of Flint children with elevated blood-lead levels had jumped from 2.1 percent to 4 percent. Additional tests have disclosed that the blood-lead levels of children living in the poorest Flint neighborhoods have jumped from 2.5 percent to 6.3 percent.

Even low lead levels can affect many different parts of the body. Lead can especially affect a child's mental development, behavior, ability to pay attention, hearing, IQ, kidneys and body growth, the caucus argues.

Rep. Sheldon NEELEY (D-Flint), first vice chairman of the MLBC, said the caucus is working with local, state and federal officials to find solutions and resources. A state-declared heath emergency will allow the city to access federal funding.

"Issuing a health emergency is the most responsible thing to do," Neeley said. "This is a public health crisis, and our children are most at risk. We urge Gov. Snyder to issue the State of Emergency so the city of Flint can get immediate monetary relief."

Snyder spokesperson Dave MURRAY said the Governor and the administration have been working closely with Weaver to focus on health issues affecting children and other city residents, and to flag infrastructure challenges.

The state has given more than $10 million in grants and other financial assistance to cover part of the temporary switch to the Great Lakes Water Authority until Flint's new water source is ready to go online, as well as efforts to improve existing city water infrastructure and purchase water filters for residents, Murray said.

The Governor also appointed a bipartisan task force charged with reviewing all of the city, state and federal government actions and recommending changes looking forward that can address potential challenges in Flint and other cities, he said.

We need to make sure that the FY16 and FY17 requests from DEQ and DHHS do not overlap each other.

Also, I'm unsure how the K-12 schools testing that Robbie is working on fits with the DEQ ongoing testing request.

OPPR should take the lead on resolving and on developing a consolidated listing of all of the Flint-related funding (FY16 and FY17)….we'll likely need an issue paper on this issue at some point.

Nancy/Chris – Attached is the DHHS proposed supplemental request related to the City of Flint. We've attempted to provide detailed descriptions of each item requested. The FY16 funding levels are requested in addition to the supplemental dollars already approved in October 2015. The FY17 funding levels proposed assume full year costs, not increases from FY16.

We wanted you to have this as soon as possible. Please feel free to let us know if you have any questions.

Hello. I need a data file ASAP for the governor's office. I pulled what I need from EEM, but the format is horrendous and I would be structuring for hours (manually).

The attached item from CS is not what they want, but a good attempt. I think they want the following:

All ISD, LEA, PSA and Nonpublic Schools and Programs ACTIVE in Flint (physical entities, not the district, but the schools and ancillary facilities). I need the name of the entity, the physical address, the grades and programs in operation (so they can prioritize using this info). An XML file is attached that I think gets close, but parses out the info I queried line by line. Would take hours to physically manipulate.

Hello. I need a data file ASAP for the governor's office. I pulled what I need from EEM, but the format is horrendous and I would be structuring for hours (manually).

The attached item from CS is not what they want, but a good attempt. I think they want the following:

All ISD, LEA, PSA and Nonpublic Schools and Programs ACTIVE in Flint (physical entities, not the district, but the schools and ancillary facilities). I need the name of the entity, the physical address, the grades and programs in operation (so they can prioritize using this info). An XML file is attached that I think gets close, but parses out the info I queried line by line. Would take hours to physically manipulate.

Greetings,

I have saved an EG Project with a view to fulfill that Flint water request and requests like it. The only caveat is that it has Physical Address only. This is due to also having USCongressional, MISenate and MIHouse district information, which has blanks for those records with mailing address. I thought it was confusing to have both. There are also some buildings with different cities for Mailing vs. Physical address. For this reason I chose Physical, but this can be tweaked if need be.

What's the best way to deliver this 'View Idea' to you guys? It's attached as a SAS code node to this email. Let me know if you'd like it any other way.

Again, the only filter is Mailing Address = Physical. My assumption is that if a data consumer wants it filtered by EntityType or Status, they can filter it themselves using Excel.

Are we limiting the file to "the name of the entity, the physical address, the grades and programs in operation (so they can prioritize using this info)" or are we giving them everything?

Subject: FW: Time sensitive-Flint Schools Data
Importance: High

Hello. I need a data file ASAP for the governor's office. I pulled what I need from EEM, but the format is horrendous and I would be structuring for hours (manually).

The attached item from CS is not what they want, but a good attempt. I think they want the following:

All ISD, LEA, PSA and Nonpublic Schools and Programs ACTIVE in Flint (physical entities, not the district, but the schools and ancillary facilities). I need the name of the entity, the physical address, the grades and programs in operation (so they can prioritize using this info). An XML file is attached that I think gets close, but parses out the info I queried line by line. Would take hours to physically manipulate.

Hi Tom,

I believe Maggie from DEQ left you a voicemail on this, but the Governors office needs some data CEPI provided on Flint Schools broken down in greater detail. This is time-sensitive and related to discussions involving the Flint water situation that are happening at a fast pace. Can you please assist?

Hi Caroline,

We can pull a mailing list for you with this information. Could you please specify what is meant by "Flint area"? We can search by county, city, or zip code, and we would need to know exactly which regions should be included in the search.

Thank you,

Helena

Hello. I need a data file ASAP for the governor's office. I pulled what I need from EEM, but the format is horrendous and I would be structuring for hours (manually).

The attached item from CS is not what they want, but a good attempt. I think they want the following:

All ISD, LEA, PSA and Nonpublic Schools and Programs ACTIVE in Flint (physical entities, not the district, but the schools and ancillary facilities). I need the name of the entity, the physical address, the grades and programs in operation (so they can prioritize using this info). An XML file is attached that I think gets close, but parses out the info I queried line by line. Would take hours to physically manipulate.

Financially Distressed Cities, Villages, and Townships (FDCVT) Grant Program

Background

For FY 2015, the Michigan Legislature appropriated $8.0 million for the Financially Distressed Cities, Villages, and Townships (FDCVT) grant program to be granted to cities, villages, and townships that have one or more conditions that indicate probable financial distress, as determined by the Department of Treasury (see 2014 Public Act 252, Section 956).

Purpose

The purpose of the grant program is to provide grants to financially distressed cities, villages, and townships with one or more conditions that indicate probable financial distress. Grant funding is intended to be used to pay for specific projects or services that move the city, village, or township toward financial stability. The grant funded projects or services may include, but are not limited to, payments to reduce unfunded accrued liability; to repair critical infrastructure owned and maintained by the municipality; to reduce general fund debt; or for costs associated with a transition to shared services.

The Michigan Legislature stipulated that the Department of Treasury shall award no more than $2.0 million to any city, village, or township.

Treasury's focus for the 2015 round of grants was on the repair or replacement of obsolete critical infrastructure or equipment, service consolidation(s), improving operational effectiveness and service upgrades.

Criteria

1. Michigan city, village, or township with one or more conditions that indicate probable financial distress.
2. A completed application with detailed information.
3. The city, village, or township must demonstrate how the budgeted costs will lead toward financial stability.
4. Priority will be given to any applicant:
    a. With two or more conditions that indicate probable financial distress,
    b. In which a financial emergency has been declared in the past five years, and/or
    c. That has an approved Deficit Elimination Plan for the General Fund.

Financially Distressed Cities, Villages, and Townships (FDCVT) Grant Program

Grant Awards

Applications were made available on September 2, 2014 with a due date of October 31, 2014. The Department of Treasury received 49 applications from 15 municipalities with requested funding totaling approximately $30.5 million.

On February 3, 2015, Treasury announced that 21 applications from 11 municipalities had been awarded for a total of approximately $8.0 million. Table 1 illustrates the grant applicants who received funding, a description of the project, and the amount of grant funding awarded.

Reporting Requirements

The Department of Treasury is required by 2014 PA 252, Section 956(2) to release a report detailing a list by grant recipient of the date each grant was approved, the amount of the grant, the schedule for disbursement, and a description of the project or projects that will be paid by the grant. Disbursements to grantees will be made on a reimbursement basis, not more than once a month, as expenditures are incurred by the grantee. As a result, Table 1 does not include a schedule of disbursement.

The report must be submitted to the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on General Government, the House of Representatives Appropriations Subcommittee on General Government, the Senate Fiscal Agency, the House Fiscal Agency and the State Budget Office by March 15, 2015.

Volume #54, Report #207 -- Monday, October 19, 2015

DPS, Debt Rising, At Risk Of Default Without State Action, Snyder Says

It will take $715 million from the state over 10 years to extract public education in Detroit from the debt the Detroit Public Schools has piled up, as well as putting together a new governance structure, { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=245801&locid=1" } said Monday.

Mr. Snyder unveiled a slightly revised plan to overhaul K-12 public education in Detroit from the one he announced in April, and as was the case then, the proposal faces major challenges in clearing the Legislature. Mr. Snyder said he wants legislative approval by the end of the year to ensure the new structure is ready to launch with the start of the district's next fiscal year in July. He said he anticipated formal introduction of the legislation in about a week.

There were two big differences in the proposal: a voluntary instead of mandatory common enrollment system for both charter and traditional public schools in the city, and a bigger financial ask of the Legislature.

Pegged at $483 million in April, DPS debt is now at $515 million as a result of spending exceeding revenues. Mr. Snyder said the new Detroit district he would recommend to take over running DPS classrooms needs another $100 million for investments and working capital, and then another $100 million to cover operating losses once the district's 2016-17 fiscal year begins July 1, 2016, that are the result of declining enrollment and the need to find cost savings.

Under Mr. Snyder's plan, the district's $715 million in debt would stay with the old district and the 18-mill tax on all property other than principal residences in the district would go toward paying down the debt. The millage raises $70 million a year, so it would take 10 years to pay off the debt, Mr. Snyder said.

The catch is the 18 mills, like all school districts, goes to the state School Aid Fund, so the state would have to make up those funds.

Without state intervention, DPS could default on its debt as soon as February, Snyder press secretary Sara Wurfel said. Mr. Snyder said the state would have to cover Detroit Public Schools' debt and retiree benefits should the district fall into bankruptcy, and that would cost all school districts much more than $715 million, describing that burden as "billions."

Mr. Snyder said he hoped the Legislature could come together to support the plan much as it did to bring the city of Detroit's government out of bankruptcy.

"Isn't this important to help the kids of Detroit? We're all Michiganders," he said. "Just like we did with the Grand Bargain, we recognized that there's benefit in helping one another when someone has issues. Look at the benefit to the city of Detroit today, how it's helping the whole state of Michigan by its comeback in terms of perception and business development."

The major components of the plan are the same as what Mr. Snyder proposed in April.

A Detroit Education Commission, appointed by the governor and Detroit mayor, would be established and in charge of hiring a chief education officer. That official would operate a common enrollment system encompassing DPS schools, charter schools and the Education Achievement Authority schools, but in the biggest change from the April plan, it would be voluntary to participate.

Charter schools had criticized the April plan's lumping them in with DPS.

The chief education officer would have the authority to close any school for low performance.

The current Detroit school board would remain with the old school district that only is in charge of paying down debt. A new school board would be created for the new district, jointly appointed by the governor and the mayor but eventually fully elected by Detroit voters by 2021.

In a new piece from the April plan, the city's Financial Review Commission, created as part of the Grand Bargain to bring the city out of bankruptcy, would oversee the district's finances until the debt is repaid. It would have a slightly different membership that does not include city government-specific appointees.

Despite the loss of $70 million a year for 10 years for the School Aid Fund, Mr. Snyder said projected growth in School Aid Fund revenues means that helping reconstruct public education in Detroit will not lead to cuts for other school districts' funding. He said he still anticipated increasing funding to all school districts.

"The amount of that could be somewhat less than it would be, but again, there will be no cuts," he said.

The final plan could look much different than what Mr. Snyder has outlined. He, and others, said bill drafting continues, and top Republicans said it would be a big lift. Additionally, Detroit Democrats raised concerns about returning control of the schools to an elected school board.

Detroit Public Schools has been run by a governor-appointed emergency manager since 2009, with its school board reduced to virtually no role.

Several Detroit Democrats, in a joint statement, said there were some positive aspects to the plan, but concerning pieces as well. They focused on the need for academic improvement and local control.

"The Detroit Caucus and I are committed to finding a solution to improve our Detroit Public Schools so that we can find solutions to improve Detroit's schools," said Rep. Brian Banks (D-Detroit), the Detroit Caucus chair. "The state has controlled DPS for many years, and it has been a failure. We have to find a better way, and we believe that way lies through local control. We look forward to working with all stakeholders to address all of the issues surrounding DPS."

LEGISLATIVE ACTION: The legislation is expected to start in the Senate. { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=101501&locid=1" } (R-Hart), the chair of the Senate K-12, School Aid and Education Appropriations Subcommittee, said he will sponsor some components of the package.

Mr. Hansen said he did not want to discuss specifics in the plan because work continues to develop the legislation, even on the question of whether $715 million is the amount of money the state needs to address. As to Mr. Snyder's goal of passing the legislation before the end of the year, Mr. Hansen hesitated.

"We need to make sure it gets done right," he said. "I'm not going to set an artificial timetable."

But Mr. Hansen also said completing the legislation by the end of the year would be good "because of the complexity of it and the time it would need to get instituted."

Amber McCann, spokesperson for Senate { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=151101&locid=1" } (R-West Olive), said the Senate Republican Caucus is eager to review the details of the plan. The $70 million a year for 10 years is "going to be quite a lift," Ms. McCann said.

"It's a big commitment. It's a long-term commitment," she said.

As to the end of the year timetable, Ms. McCann said it is ambitious, but not out of the question.

{ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=179401&locid=1" } (R-Saginaw Township), the House Appropriations K-12 School Aid Subcommittee chair who called Mr. Snyder's April plan inadequate, sounded the same message Monday.

"I think this is just something that's going to require a little more imagination and a lot more boldness than this," he said. "I think the whole idea of replacing one command and control edifice for another isn't going to get the job done."

Gideon D'Assandro, spokesperson for House { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=288901&locid=1" } (R-Mount Pleasant), said Mr. Cotter's comments on the April plan still stand.

In those comments, Mr. Cotter called for "no raids" on the School Aid Fund. He said that fund exists to pay for education for all Michigan pupils, not to pay off the legacy debt of one district.

Until bills are introduced, it is not possible to say whether the Legislature could complete action on them this year, Mr. D'Assandro said.

As to how House Republicans would react to the $715 million figure, Mr. D'Assandro said, "I think everybody knew there was a big problem there and everybody knew it was going to be a pretty substantial fix that was needed."

TEPID REACTIONS: Like the first plan, reaction was tepid. The American Federation of Teachers-Michigan, which represents Detroit teachers, said the plan tends toward too much state control.

Charter school groups had a mixed reaction.

"Based on what we've seen, we have concerns with any plan that takes decisions out of the hands of parents and puts them in the hands of a single, politically appointed person," Dan Quisenberry, president of the Michigan Association of Public School Academies, said in a statement. "We need to raise student achievement in Detroit and solve DPS's financial situation, and from what we've seen and heard, this proposal does neither. We look forward to seeing the legislation that comes out of this, and having the charter school community continue being an active part of the discussion."

Jared Burkhart, executive director of the Michigan Council of Charter School Authorizers, said only that the organization was happy to see Mr. Snyder's interest in a system of "robust accountability" in Detroit and looked forward to working with the governor and legislators on the issue.

Mistakes In Flint Water Change Mean Leadership Change At DEQ

Department of Environmental Quality officials failed to follow proper treatment and testing protocols when Flint moved from the Detroit water system to drawing from the Flint River and took too long to fix the problem once they discovered their error.

Environmental Quality { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=303801&locid=1" } said his staff in the Office of Drinking Water and Municipal Assistance thought they were using the right protocols in testing Flint water, but he removed the head of that office in the wake of { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=245801&locid=1" } calling for an independent review of the state's actions in the situation.

But legislators from the region, and a water quality expert who has helped to test some of the Flint water, chastised state and federal regulators involved for trying only to preserve their own reputations when trouble with the water system began to emerge.

Mr. Wyant said DEQ staff made honest mistakes in how they handled the water source switch.

"It recently has become clear that our drinking water program staff made a mistake while working with the city of Flint. Simply stated, staff employed a federal protocol they believed was appropriate, and it was not," Mr. Wyant said in a statement announcing he had appointed Jim

Sygo as interim head of the drinking water office. "The water testing steps followed would have been correct for a city less than 50,000 people, but not for a city of nearly 100,000."

Liane Smith, the former head of the drinking water office, has been reassigned within the department.

"It's an issue of leadership going forward given that this is a very difficult issue, and it's an issue of experience with corrosion controls and a recognition that we needed stronger leadership in that role to address both of those," Mr. Wyant told Gongwer News Service.

"Jim has more leadership experience - and this issue is going to require leadership - and we will identify corrosion control expertise that we will bring to the table," he said.

Mr. Wyant said Ms. Smith would remain with the department and be given other duties "as assigned", but also that her long-term duties in the department could depend on the outcome of the third-party after-action review.

Mr. Sygo will lead the office temporarily, with a national search planned to find a new director.

Mr. Wyant said he would also be reviewing his own connections with his management staff.

"I do have to look at my own policies to be sure I've got a mechanism to identify these issues and flag them sooner," he said.

But he said the issue in Flint is being addressed now. "We feel we have an action plan in place that addresses lead exposure both the long term, intermediate and short term," he said.

Mr. Wyant said his staff apparently did not have the experience with corrosion control needed to know how to properly monitor the system, but he also put some of the fault on the federal standards.

"I'm coming to the conclusion there needs to be some changes to the federal rule to allow us to be more protective of public health," he said.

Marc Edwards, a professor at Virginia Tech and an expert in drinking water corrosion controls, said documents he obtained through the Freedom of Information Act showed state officials should have known the city had to implement corrosion controls and instead worked to cover up the issue.

He pointed out several emails from earlier this year where officials said a corrosion study on the system was warranted but should not be started because the city would again change its water source before the study is completed.

"I think it started innocently enough. ... It's possible that they didn't understand the federal rule," Mr. Edwards told Gongwer News Service. "By early 2015, this problem became too big to ignore. ... Even if they did not understand the rule, they should have taken much more aggressive steps to get this problem fixed."

To Mr. Wyant's offer to work with federal officials to improve the rule, Mr. Edwards said there is room for such improvement, but the current rule should have prevented the issues faced in Flint.

"The rule in fact did require them to have corrosion control," he said. "The rule does require them to take samples and, if they had done that correctly, people would have been told much sooner there was a problem."

Mr. Edwards said he had talked to Mr. Wyant on Monday and had agreed to Mr. Wyant's request for assistance.

"I will do whatever I can to make sure this doesn't happen again," he said.

Senate { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=106601&locid=1" } (D-Flint) said recent documents indicate state and federal officials were working more to back up their earlier findings than to ensure the water was safe.

"The latest developments in the Flint water crisis raise more troubling questions. It is clear from several now available documents that certain DEQ and EPA staff chose to put their reputations ahead of the safety and health of Flint citizens," Mr. Ananich said in a statement. "We do not know whether the misapplication of federal rules was intentional or due to negligence. That's why the Legislature needs to have a robust role in any investigation, and in ensuring those responsible for Flint's water crisis are held accountable."

Michigan Democratic Party Chair Brandon Dillon called for Mr. Wyant to be replaced.

"This was not an issue of experience and protocol. It is a question of competency and judgment. DEQ employees were not provided with the leadership and training necessary to do their jobs in this situation, and Mr. Wyant clearly lacks the judgment needed to do his," Mr. Dillon said in a statement. "You don't get to learn on the job when it comes to the well-being of Michigan's children and families. You may be able to fix the problem of Flint's drinking water going forward, but the damage done to the health of thousands of Flint's children is irreversible."

Spokespersons for Mr. Snyder could be reached, but { HYPERLINK "http://www.detroitnews.com/story/news/politics/2015/10/19/snyder-defends-environmental-quality-director-flint-crisis/74229710/" \t "blank" } that Mr. Snyder told its newspaper's editorial board that Mr. Wyant is doing a "great job" responding to the situation and that the initial focus is on the staff who personally handled the issue.

James Clift with the Michigan Environmental Council said his group has concerns over how much autonomy cities have in conducting the water testing. "Financially, the city has an incentive to not find a problem," he said, even though the protocols call for trying to test the likely worst homes.

Mr. Clift said cities also need to be required to let residents know that they could be at risk. "To the extent that people have these lead leads in their homes, do they know it," he said. The records of those connections should be computerized, he said.

HFA Report: Medicaid Will Need More GF To Meet Match

When the state has to contribute funds to finance the Healthy Michigan Medicaid Expansion program, it will need to use more General Funds, or find another source of revenues, a report by the House Fiscal Agency said.

But if the Healthy Michigan plan is discontinued, then the Legislature will also have to find more money from GF to cover annual savings Healthy Michigan provides the state now and to cover the loss of funds generate by the Health Insurance Claims Assessment as well as the use tax charged against Medicaid managed care organizations.

In addition, the HFA { HYPERLINK "http://www.house.mi.gov/hfa/PDF/CommunityHealth/Michigan_Medicaid_Program_Oct2015.pdf" \t "blank" } said, the Legislature will need to make some fixes to the act that created Healthy Michigan because "the current statutory formula doesn't work mathematically."

With the addition of Healthy Michigan, which covers about 600,000 people whose incomes are up to 133 percent of the federal poverty level, Medicaid provides health insurance to nearly 20 percent of the state's residents, the report said.

Approving Healthy Michigan was one of the most contentious issues of 2013, and in approving the program, the Legislature chose not to create a reserve program - that { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=245801&locid=1" } had proposed - that could help the state cover the federal cut in funding beginning in the 2016-17 fiscal year.

In addition, the legislative approval created two conditions under which Healthy Michigan could be ended: if the federal Centers for Medicare and Medicaid does not approve a new waiver the state has submitted by December 31 and if the costs of meeting the federal match exceed savings for the program.

Under the call for states to expand Medicaid enrollment to low-income individuals and families, in the federal Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, the federal government promised to pay 100 percent of the cost of the additional coverage for the first three years. The federal match will then be set at 95 percent in calendar year 2017, and be phased down to 90 percent by 2021-22.

In terms of simple cash payments, the General Fund amount needed to meet the match will start at $137 million in 2016-17 to $356 million in 2020-21.

However, including the offset of the some $235 million in net savings, the state will not actually see an expenditure until the 2018-19 fiscal year, a total of $55 million, the House Fiscal Agency report said. By 2021-22, the expenditure would be an estimated $89 million.

That means the Legislature would have to pull more money out of the General Fund to cover the program, unless an alternate revenue source were found.

But there are other technical factors that could affect the overall savings and costs, especially in terms of when the Healthy Michigan costs exceed its savings (the report did not guess at a time when that might happen).

One of the most significant factors is how the level of state retainer savings will be set under the hospital provider assessment the state now charges. The current formula doesn't work mathematically, the HFA said, so the Legislature will need to change that in law, and when it does, it could set those savings at higher levels than currently forecast. The state also had not yet calculated the savings it is seeing by reducing the amount of uncompensated care it was paying for individuals who were uninsured, needed treatment and were unable to pay their expenses, the report said.

Veterans, Businesses Tout Support For Prevailing Wage

Two groups on Monday held separate press conferences opposing repeal of the prevailing wage, calling on legislators to support the policy because it's good for veterans and the state's small businesses.

"When I got out of the military, I looked at a lot of different jobs, but going into the trades is what suited me. Veterans will be hurt more than any other group (by a repeal)," said Jesse Stevens, a veteran of the U.S. Marine Corps and member of the Bricklayers and Allied Craftworkers.

Citizens Protecting Michigan Taxpayers, a group seeking to repeal the prevailing wage law, has submitted some 391,000 signatures in support of its efforts. It awaits a recommendation from the Bureau of Elections as to the validity of those petitions.

Presuming the Board of State Canvassers determines sufficient signatures of registered voters, then the Legislature has 40 days to pass the proposal, which would make a repeal law. Or it could take no action and let the proposal go to the November 2016 ballot. The former is widely expected, but backers of prevailing wage are trying to stop that scenario.

Dave Waymire, spokesperson for Michigan Prevails, a group in support of maintaining the prevailing wage law, estimated that of the 568,000 veterans in the state, about 10 percent were working construction and skilled trades.

Repealing prevailing wage could also hurt the sustainability of the skilled trades at a time when { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=245801&locid=1" } is seeking to invest even more in those fields to fill the demand for such jobs, one veteran said.

"Our Local 252 (International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers) spends over $1 million a year to train apprentices," said Matthew Charles, an Army veteran who is currently a first-year electrician in an apprenticeship program. "I appreciate people saying, 'Thank you for your service,' but now we have politicians who say they want to thank me for my service by ending prevailing wage. This will cut opportunity, pay and benefits for construction workers who are veterans in Michigan, and that's not right."

Repealing the prevailing wage is also a slight to local businesses that have weathered the Michigan economic storms, said Jim Judd, owner of Master Craft Carpet Services in Plymouth.

"Michigan is coming back from a decades-long decline and this attempted repeal of the prevailing wage does nothing to help our comeback," he said in a press call separate from the veteran's event, both held on Monday. "(It) rewards out-of-state businesses that often don't provide jobs for our friends, family and neighbors."

Another business owner, Donna Pardonnet from Architectural Contractors Trade Association, said she has had first-hand experience that tells her Michigan contractors would face "unfair" competition from out-of-state corporations "that avoid paying taxes by paying workers under the table."

"They will be forced to compete with operations that promote unsafe worksites and with operations that replace skilled Michigan tradespeople with unskilled workers from out of state," she said.

Mr. Judd and Ms. Pardonnet are among { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/public/PW-businesses.pdf" } who signed and sent a { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/public/PW-letter.docx" } to the Legislature urging lawmakers to protect Michigan's prevailing wage laws.

Both groups argued that an earlier suspension of the law in the 1990s did not lead to cost savings, as fewer contractors bid on public projects.

But Chris Fisher, president of Associated Builders and Contractors of Michigan, said prevailing wage is "decidedly anti-taxpayer."

"Most credible studies prove that prevailing wage kills jobs and wastes tax dollars because it isn't hard to figure out that when you let unions rig the bidding process, prices will go up," he said. "Michigan's one of just six states where prevailing wage is based exclusively on union agreements. It's time to put taxpayers in charge instead of giving big labor a blank check with our tax dollars."

Hospital Report Says Improved Practices Netted Savings, Improved Lives

A report by the Michigan Health and Hospital Association said Monday that ongoing improvements in overall patient care has both saved money and improved overall outcomes for patients, including saving lives.

Significantly, the improvements include a 34 percent cut in deaths from septic shock from 2011 to 2014, the report said.

And in 2014 alone, hospitals saved more than $100 million in overall costs by reducing the number of readmissions by more than 10,000 cases.

The report said from 2010 to 2014, hospitals were able to reduce early elective births by 60 percent, which meant healthier mothers and babies. Approximately 2,900 births were affected.

And from 2012 to 2014, state hospitals were able to cut the use of catheters by 27 percent, which reduced the risk of overall infection.

Campaign Notes

PAC TAUNTS COURSER, GAMRAT WITH BUMPER STICKERS: The Progress Michigan Action Fund is selling bumper stickers in the 80th and 82nd House Districts where special elections are taking place to replace expelled former Rep. Cindy Gamrat and resigned former Rep. Todd Courser. In Ms. Gamrat's district, the bumper sticker says, "Todd's Girlfriend, Republican for State Representative," and in Mr. Courser's district, the bumper sticker says, "Cindy's Boyfriend, Republican for State Representative."

SBAM ENDORSES WHITEFORD; SPLITS ON 82ND DISTRICT: The Small Business Association of Michigan's political action committee has endorsed Republican Mary Whiteford of Casco Township in the special election in the 80th House District where former Rep. Cindy Gamrat was expelled. In the 2014 primary, Ms. Whiteford received the PAC's seal of approval.

In the 82nd District, where former Rep. Todd Courser resigned, the group said it had given stamps of approval to both Republican Jan Peabody of Lapeer and Republican Gary Howell of Lapeer.

GILBERT DONATIONS: Republicans used recent campaign finance filings to again hit Melissa Gilbert, candidate for the 8th U.S. House District as well as former television star, with her tax problems.

Ms. Gilbert has said in prior statements that she is working with the Internal Revenue Service and California tax officials to repay tax debts, but Michigan Republican Party Chairman Ronna Romney McDaniel said she should use at least one of her campaign contributions toward that end: the $5,400 she received from actor husband Timothy Busfield.

DRAFT

Summary of the January 29, 2015 meetings were accepted. There were no additions to the agenda.

RB introduced James Redford, Governor Snyder's newly appointment Legal Counsel. Jim served as a Judge at Kent County Circuit Court for 12 years. Jim's distinguished career includes retiring from the Navy in 2012, working for JAG, and having been a prosecutor in Kent County. Jim grew up in Detroit and lives in Grand Rapids. Mike Gadola was appointed to the Michigan Court of Appeals by Governor Snyder in December 2014. RB introduced John Walsh, former House Representative who has taken the Director of Strategic Policy position for Governor Snyder. John's relationships with legislators and understanding of key issues will be an asset to the office.

Old Business

Detroit/Flint Update

- RB reported that the law enforcement side has great partnerships with Detroit that have grown and matured. The relationship between Chief Craig and Mayor Duggan is working fine. The biggest challenges are splitting up water and sewer.
- At the 2015 State of the State address Governor Snyder, talked about the "River of Opportunity" which includes the merger of the Department of Community Health and Department of Human Services. The new department will be called the Department of Health and Human Services. The State is taking a more "holistic" view on issues to become self-sustaining.
- RB will be attending Mayor Duggan's State of the City address on February 9. Arrangements are in the works to bring city services together at Cadillac Place. Combining locations will utilize unused space in Cadillac Place and create a one stop shop format. The Mayor plans to announce on February 9 if plans are completed.
- RB attended Financial Review Committee (FRC) meetings with Dick Ravitch, the FRC special advisor in Detroit. Ravitch was the Lt. Governor of New York in the 1970's. Meetings were held with Brenda Jones, Tate, Benjamin, and Governor Snyder. FRC is off to a good start not adversarial.

- Detroit cabinet members and State Department Directors held a combined meeting on December 12 that included a tour of the I-75 corridor and neighborhoods. Mayor Duggan presented his economic development plan which includes taking down 200 vacant houses per week. The City has begun a deal with city employees to buy houses at auction for 50% of the selling price. Detroit has a strategy to fix the problems and develop the community too.
- Chief Craig's contract expires soon. The Chief has purchased a house in Detroit and plans to stay.
- The EM law does not allow appointment for counties like schools. A consent agreement can be signed between the State and Wayne County. Warren Evans concedes there is no way out of the mess. Negotiations on the consent agreement have begun. It is not cost efficient to move the jail to Mound Rd, the only option is to finish the jail. KG stated that the Judges are opposed to moving it. DH and RB talked to Chief Craig who liked the deal with Mound Rd but doesn't want to run it. DOC should continue to run it. RB would like to talk more with KG. DH confirmed that all precincts do lock ups. The question was asked about video arraignments. There has been resistance.
- John Walsh has judicial reform as a priority.
- Judge Gerald Rosen could join the Governor's team after he retires.
- Pension reform is close to being finalized.
- Darnell Early, former EM of Flint has been appointed as the new EM for Detroit Public Schools. Jerry Ambrose has been appointed as the interim Flint EM.
- Flint's water issue pertains to the water eliminating an odor and looking not appetizing. The water is safe to drink and bathe in. Working to recut a deal with Detroit W&S until other water deal is completed.
- Crime in Flint is coming down. It's a matter of perception vs. reality.
- 55% of the law enforcement workforce shows up for work now. Chief Tolbert is making a difference.
- GR said Kevyn Orr spoke in Grand Rapids; audience was impressed and positive feedback ws received.

DRAFT

Veterans Courts

- GR reported that Jeff Barnes is still working with MSU to put together a video for roll call. Target date for video is May/June.
- Focus on treatment courts is still a priority. Goal is to bring veterans back to the workplace. Would like to promote with MAP.
- RB talked about the upcoming Disability Summit on February 9. Both Governor and Lt. Governor will be speaking. Arrangements have been made with two employers for their disabled employees to participate in the summit virtually. There are ½ million disabled people in MI with college degrees who are under employed or un-employed.

Where do we go from here?

- Harriett Miller-Brown attended the meeting to participate in determining the next steps for NexGen 911. RB asked how the I-94 tragedy would have been improved with NexGen 911. Real life examples like that should be used in presentation. RB identified Senator Mike Nofs as a potential sponsor for NexGen 911 legislation. A meeting will be convened with Senator Nofs and CLEAR members: RB, KE, KG, GR, SD to discuss NexGen 911 legislation. Michele VanSickle will work with CLEAR group and Senator Nofs office to schedule the meeting as soon as possible. PS has the draft legislation. It is important to have the right legislator on board. There could be opposition to circumventing the 911 and legislative committee process. Local units are tired of waiting, want to move to get new systems; it is time to move this issue. An RFP has been drafted with DTMB but is still few months out. The suggestion was made to issue best practice standards so those ready to invest in a new system would have information for compatibility. The UP has stepped out in front in the right way. This could be included in the Governor's Public Safety message. PS will check with Mike Brownfield. RB would like to have a recorded endorsement from CLEAR to go ahead with Nofs. Possible that Senator Casperson could support with Nofs. Casperson is looking to move to Washington and wants topics for showcase. Homeland Security is looking at using MI NexGen 911 as a model. Harriett will create a 1-3 page document (user friendly) to show why NexGen 911 is important. The motion was made by TB that consistent with prior endorsement of NexGen 911 and First Net by CLEAR that identified members: GR, RB, KE, SD, and KG begin the process with legislators. The motion was seconded by DM and passed unanimously.

Action Item: Michele VanSickle will set up meeting with identified CLEAR members, Harriett Miller-Brown, and Senator Nofs. A pre meeting conference call will also be set up prior to the meeting date.

- The Governor did not want to move forward with Pension Reform before John Walsh took over as Director of Strategic Policy. KG explained that by not grandfathering in all systems instead of just new hires there would be no new money coming into old plans. There needs to be a provision made into the fund until new money starts coming in. Another concern is whether the change affects Social Security for uniforms. MERS continues to change the rules for how long pensions are funded. Pensions are operated under the law now, even healthy pension systems are being increased like 12 to 20%. PS talked about merging all pensions to one pot instead of multiple plans. Could look at a State run pension system. There could be political implications/Governor's legacy. RB will have Michele set up a meeting with Chris DeRose and KG to discuss pensions.

  Action Item: Michele VanSickle will set up meeting with Chris DeRose, Rich Baird, and Ken Grabrowski to discuss pensions.

MCOLES Standards Project

- GR reported that a meeting was held with GR, TB, DM, and Dave Harvey to see where the MCOLES standard project was going to go if at all. Harvey has put together a funding committee at MCOLES which includes KG. CLEAR is happy to provide logical support. A preliminary meeting was held. Based on the discussion at that meeting MCOLES thinks CLEAR wants to dictate the composition of their board. MCOLES has financial issues but does not want to be stay under MSP. The next MCOLES meeting is scheduled for February 11. The recommendation was made to create a document with history data much like NexGen 911 and the self-assessment done by DH. RB suggested creating a draft letter outlining the challenge of the current administration for producing standards for statewide law enforcement, define what the commission should be and how it is funded, and redefine MCOLES role. CLEAR needs to look at the legislation that defined MCOLES.

Survivor Benefits

- Survivor benefit legislation died during lame duck.

School Safety Grant Review

- PS presented the School Safety Grant program. Highlighted was that approximately $46 million in total requests were submitted, $35 million were submitted on time. Grant review by the Committee will take place in February. Finalists will be presented at the February CLEAR meeting, with advance materials sent prior to the meeting. Grants will be made on or before March 20, 2015.
- Recommendations were to consider only complete applications received on time, not to impose a hard cap on funding per award or based on geography but to cognizant of these factors when making awards, review applications with spelling and typographical errors but not guess at corrections, and due to variances in prices listed written estimates for equipment will be requested within 10 days.

- Open questions included should the scope of review be narrowed to favor applications that seek funding for systems to control building access, should applications that identify a sheriff's office as the law enforcement in the "sheriff category be allowed, and how should applications be handled from ISDs and school districts within the same ISD. RB suggested sending the applications back to the school districts and ISDs to decide which application will go forward. Action item: Add School Safety Grant Review to the next CLEAR agenda.

CSC Kit Legislation

- The Governor signed the law which created a law commission to address the sexual assault kit issue. There is a concern because Kym Worthy has a new mission: no kit left behind. The concept has great potential but should be tested in Detroit before rolling it out statewide. SB 998 holds law enforcement to tight timelines but those timelines do not apply to all of criminal justice. If timelines are not met there should be suppression liability. Money has been allotted in the budget for sexual assault in higher education. CLEAR should define a grant program like the school safety grant program.

Future Meeting Dates for 2015

- The 2015 meetings dates are: February 26, March 26, April 23, Mary 28, June 25, September 24, October 22, and December 3. There are no meetings scheduled for July, August, and November.
- Colonel Etue will chair the February meeting on behalf of Chairman Rosema and the meeting will be held at MSP.

New business

Open Dialogue

- GR reviewed the 7 topics identified during a phone call with GR, KE, Governor, DM, HH. Governor Snyder wants to make sure Michigan does not experience public safety concerns like Ferguson or New York. 1. How do we blend concerns of diversity, law enforcement and community together? This should include customer service, understanding community culture, cultural intelligence training, and fair and impartial policing, best practices in community policing and engagement, and can a model(s) be developed? Colonel Etue will be visiting the east coast to look at their fair and impartial policing model and will provide training for trainers from around the State. Secure cities could be a model. 2. Are we building relationships? Internally and externally. RB suggested that professional facilitation is needed for secure cities. 3. What is our response to a situation? Who do we call, what is the response, communications: internal/external. 4. Escalation of response who is involved? We require schools to have a plan. An example would be Oakland County who has oaktac. 5. Prosecutor's and court's role in building better communities. Work with SD. 6. Technology – body cameras. Development of model policies and procedures, FOIA, data storage. Put together a workgroup to look at pros/cons, best practices. All patrols or only shifts, when to turn on/off. 7. Recruitment of young people. Schools, ISDs, community colleges, military credits. RB suggested that there might be other folks CLEAR can reach out to on an adhoc basis to provide help based on the work they do like MSU, ICP. CLEAR would be the executive manager to pull the work together. PS will check on availability of interns. GR will create a work group. Start with the latest nerd document on MI dashboard. A follow up phone call will be scheduled with the Governor.

Next Agenda items

- CLEAR website: new design, how to update content, etc.
- Offers to hold meetings at AG's office will be considered
- Discuss prelim exams

DRAFT

- Gun legislation pending – Should CLEAR review all gun legislation prior to presenting to the Governor for signature?
- MSP Strategic Plan
- Reinvent OCA – Should it be part of DOC?
- Discuss how do we define criminology?
- Meeting will be on Thursday, February 26, 2015 at 10 am at the MSP Training Center, KE will chair the meeting in the absence of GR. February meeting was cancelled due to number of conflicts. Next meeting will be on Thursday, March 26, 2015 at 10 am at the Romney Building.

Emergency Financial Managers appointed under PA 72

Appointments will ensure continuity in financially troubled communities, schools

LANSING, Mich. – Emergency financial managers (EFMs) were appointed today in the four cities and three school districts under a financial emergency. Appointments to the cities were made by the Local Emergency Financial Assistance Loan Board and appointments to the school districts were made by the governor.

The actions were taken following the Board of State Canvassers certification of petitions for the referendum of Public Act 4 of 2011, the Local Government and School District Fiscal Accountability Act. The Canvassers certification placed the repeal of PA 4 on the November ballot and immediately suspended the act and reinstated its predecessor, PA 72 of 1990.

Attorney General Bill Schuette issued a formal opinion Monday, Aug. 6, stating that, upon suspension of PA 4, "1990 PA 72 is revived until certification of the November 2012 general election results."

"My administration is deeply committed to addressing the needs of struggling communities and schools," said Gov. Rick Snyder. "This is not just about finances but the quality of life for citizens and ensuring public safety, health and welfare."

The Local Emergency Financial Assistance Loan Board appointed EFMs Joyce Parker in Ecorse, Joe Harris in Benton Harbor, Louis Schimmel in Pontiac and Ed Kurtz in Flint. Parker, Harris and Schimmel all were serving as emergency managers under PA 4 and Kurtz replaces Mike Brown in Flint, who was ineligible to serve under PA 72 because he previously served as interim mayor.

"The action taken today was necessary to ensure continuity in these communities experiencing financial emergencies," said Deputy Treasurer Roger Fraser. "The three EFMs who were re-appointed have been making positive changes to return their respective cities to prosperity. Mr. Kurtz has proved his ability to assist struggling cities in the past and will be a steadying hand through this period of transition in Flint."

Snyder appointed Roy Roberts in Detroit Public Schools, Donald Weatherspoon in Muskegon Heights Schools and Joyce Parker in Highland Park Schools as EFMs to continue oversight for the struggling school districts. In compliance with PA 72, State Superintendent of Public Instruction Mike Flanagan made recommendations to the governor for EFMs at Detroit Public Schools, Highland Park Schools and Muskegon Heights Public Schools. Under the law, the superintendent submits to the governor the names of not more than three nominees for the governor's consideration.

In addition to the names of those who have been serving as emergency managers in those districts, Flanagan submitted the names of two education experts from the Michigan Department of Education for the EFMs at Detroit Public Schools and Highland Park Schools.

"Our utmost priority is providing the students of these three school districts with the quality education they need and deserve," Flanagan said. "For that to happen, the schools must be financially sound. MDE is committed to supporting and assisting the work of every emergency financial manager to help the students in those districts achieve and succeed."

The suspension of PA 4 is prospective only. Actions taken by an EM under PA 4, or Consent Agreements reached prior to the suspension of PA 4, remain in effect.

The Local Emergency Financial Assistance Loan Board consists of Treasurer Andy Dillon, state Budget Director John Nixon, and Licensing and Regulatory Affairs Director Steven Hilfinger. The board was assigned by Snyder the responsibility to manage the financial emergencies per PA 72 of 1990.

MEMORANDUM

TO: House and Senate K-12 Appropriations Subcommittees

FROM: Mike Flanagan, State Superintendent

SUBJECT: Quarterly Report to the Legislature on Deficit Districts

OVERVIEW

Pursuant to language in Section 102 of the State School Aid Act (MCL 388.1702), the Michigan Department of Education (MDE) is required to report quarterly to the Legislature on school districts incurring year-end deficits and the districts' progress in reducing those deficits. In this second quarterly report for FY 2014-2015, an analysis of the projected FY 2014-2015 financial data has been completed for those school districts that ended FY 2013-2014 with a deficit. The analysis is conducted using data collected from Deficit Elimination Plans (DEPs) and required monthly budget control reports. It should be noted that since 1976, MDE has provided the Legislature with an annual report on local school districts in financial deficit. This second quarterly report for FY 2014-2015 can appropriately serve as the required annual report due March 1, given the proximity of this presentation to the annual deadline.

Note: This report was prepared with data as of February 20, 2015.

Section 102(2) of the State School Aid Act (PA 94 of 1979, as amended) states:

"(2) Not later than March 1 of each year, the department shall prepare a report of deficits incurred or projected by districts and intermediate districts in the immediately preceding fiscal year and the progress made in reducing those deficits and submit the report to the standing committees of the legislature responsible for K-12 education legislation, the appropriations subcommittees of the legislature responsible for K-12 education appropriations, the house and senate fiscal agencies, the state treasurer, and the state budget director. The department also shall submit quarterly interim reports concerning the progress made by districts and intermediate districts in reducing those deficits. On a quarterly basis, the superintendent of public instruction shall publicly present those reports to the appropriations subcommittees of the legislature responsible for K-12 education appropriations."

The following narrative provides relevant information regarding process, requirements, and selected district information; the attached analysis provides deficit district specific information.

MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION (MDE) PROCESS

Under Governor Snyder's Good Government initiative, MDE has included a financial metric on our Scorecard related to DEPs as follows: "Percent of DEPs reviewed within 30 days of receipt from districts." MDE is continuing to achieve 100% on this metric.

In addition, the law requires that deficit districts submit a DEP to MDE. MDE has a formal process in place to ensure that school districts develop and implement DEPs to eliminate their general fund deficits. Long-standing MDE procedures ensure that districts are treated fairly throughout the deficit elimination process. MDE's website (http://www.michigan.gov/mde/0,4615,7-140-6530_6605-106599--,00.html) includes definitions, contact information, a flow chart to ensure accurate completion of required forms, and district requirements related to districts in deficit. MDE provides considerable technical assistance to districts during the DEP development and submission process. When necessary, the process may include requiring district representatives (i.e. administrators, local board of education members, and union representatives) to attend a meeting(s) in Lansing to discuss requirements in the law (see following section), status of the district's financial situation, possible modifications to the district's DEP, and answer questions. The desired outcome of such a meeting is for all of the district's key representatives to leave with a mutual understanding related to what is in the law and what is required of deficit districts. The MDE team stresses that because Michigan is a locally controlled state, district officials must make the difficult decisions that will eliminate the deficit. MDE also includes Department of Treasury (Treasury) staff in these meetings to discuss how processes within Treasury regarding the State Aid Note Borrowing Program and the Emergency Loan Program relate to and affect a district's deficit status. It is imperative that district representatives understand that borrowing through Treasury for cash flow purposes does not negate the need to reduce expenditures in order to eliminate the deficit. As we continue to work with these critical districts, it became apparent that the districts also need to have a conversation with Office of Retirement Systems if there is an issue with MPSERS payments and with the Department of Licensing and Regulatory Affairs should the district have reimbursement issues related to Unemployment Insurance. Both agencies are invited to these meetings as necessary.

Public school academies (charter schools) are treated the same as traditional districts when faced with a deficit situation. They receive technical assistance and must submit a DEP to MDE and have it approved.

Since my last report to you on December 19, 2014, MDE staff has met in Lansing with the following deficit districts:

Albion Public Schools – 1/16/2015

- After their December DEP submission was not approvable, we asked for a meeting. The Department requested a revised DEP be submitted by February 16, 2015. A revised DEP was submitted by the deadline and is currently being reviewed by the Department.

Hazel Park Public Schools – 2/5/2015

- During the preparation of their annual audit, it was discovered that the district's deficit increased by $2.3 million from June 30, 2013 to June 30, 2014. The district had projected that the deficit would decrease in 2013-14. During the meeting with the Department, the district reported that their new auditing firm required the district to correct prior accounting errors. The district must submit a revised DEP by March 16, 2015.

The Department is currently scheduling a meeting with Saginaw Public Schools board and other officials to discuss their deficit situation.

REQUIREMENTS IN LAW

DISTRICT REQUIREMENTS

Michigan is a locally controlled state; Sec. 102(1) of the State School Aid Act [MCL 388.1702(1)] states:
"A district or intermediate district receiving money under this act shall not adopt or operate under a deficit budget, and shall not incur an operating deficit in a fund during a school fiscal year. A district having an existing deficit or which incurs a deficit shall not be allotted or paid a further sum under this act until the district submits to the department for approval a budget for the current fiscal year and a plan to eliminate the deficit not later than the end of the second fiscal year after the deficit was incurred or the budget projecting a deficit was adopted. Withheld state aid payments shall be released after the department approves the deficit reduction plan and ensures that the budget for the current school fiscal year is balanced. After the department approves a district's or intermediate district's deficit reduction plan, the district or intermediate district shall post the deficit elimination plan on the district's or intermediate district's website."

The Uniform Budgeting and Accounting Act places the burden for eliminating a district's deficit on the local board of education.

- MCL 141.436(7) – Except as otherwise permitted by Section 102 of the State School Aid Act, 1979 PA 94, MCL 388.1702, or by other law, the legislative body shall not adopt a general appropriations act or an amendment to that act which causes estimated total expenditures, including an accrued deficit, to exceed total estimated revenues, including an available surplus and the proceeds from bonds or other obligations issued under the Fiscal Stabilization Act, 1981 PA 80, MCL 141.1001 to 141.1011, or the balance of the principal of these bonds or other obligations.

- MCL 141.437(2) – If, during a fiscal year, it appears to the chief administrative officer or to the legislative body that the actual and probable revenues from taxes and other sources in a fund are less than the estimated revenues, including an available surplus upon which appropriations from the fund were based and the proceeds from bonds or other obligations issued under the Fiscal Stabilization Act, 1981 PA 80, MCL 141.1001 to 141.1011, or the balance of the principal of these bonds or other obligations, the chief administrative officer or fiscal officer shall present to the legislative body recommendations which, if adopted, would prevent expenditures from exceeding available revenues for that current fiscal year. The recommendations shall include proposals for reducing appropriations from the fund for budgetary centers in a manner that would cause the total of appropriations to not be greater than the total of revised estimated revenues of the fund, or proposals for measures necessary to provide revenues sufficient to meet expenditures of the fund, or both. The recommendations shall recognize the requirements of state law and the provisions of collective bargaining agreements.

- MCL 141.438(3) – Except as otherwise provided in Section 19, an administrative officer of the local unit shall not incur expenditures against an appropriation account in excess of the amount appropriated by the legislative body. The chief administrative officer, an administrative officer, or an employee of the local unit shall not apply or divert money of the local unit for purposes inconsistent with those specified in the appropriations of the legislative body.

MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION REQUIREMENTS

Penalties in law that are to be imposed on deficit districts: (1) withholding state school aid [MCL 388.1702(1)] (see statutory language above); and (2) reporting a violation to the Attorney General who will review the report and determine whether or not to act [MCL 388.1761] (see statutory language below).

To date, as State Superintendent, I have periodically authorized state aid to be withheld from a limited number of deficit districts that have failed to submit timely, required information. Since my December report to you, because Hazel Park City Schools had not complied with the law in submitting their audit and Financial Information Database, I withheld their state aid beginning with the December 20, 2014 payment. When the required information was received, all payments were released to the district.

MCL 388.1761 – "A school official or member of a board or other person who neglects or refuses to do or perform an act required by this act or who violates or knowingly permits or consents to the violation of this act is guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by imprisonment for not more than 90 days, or a fine of not more than $1,500, or both." There has been no instance where, as State Superintendent, I have asked the Attorney General's involvement regarding deficit districts.

DEFICIT ELIMINATION PLANS NOT REQUESTED

Four districts'/academies' deficit fund balances at the end of the 2013-14 fiscal year were caused by timing issues with how grant related revenues and expenditures were recognized. Because reimbursements for expenditures recorded in 2013-14 were not received within 60 days of the last day of the fiscal year, the corresponding revenue had to be recorded in 2014-15. Since the deficit was directly related to this generally accepted accounting principle, and the districts' budgets show positive fund balances at the end of 2014-15, the Department did not request DEPs for the following districts and academies:

- Lakeside Charter School
- Akron Fairgrove Schools
- Blanche Kelso Bruce Academy
- Education Achievement Authority of Michigan

The Department remains concerned with the financial health of these districts and academies, knowing a simple timing issue could cause a deficit situation. We urged the districts and academies to review their current budgets and implement any necessary changes that will lead to stronger and more stable fund balances.

ADDITIONAL SELECTED DISTRICT INFORMATION

DETROIT PUBLIC SCHOOLS

The district submitted a revised DEP on December 17, 2014. On January 13, 2015, Darnell Earley was appointed Emergency Manager of Detroit Public Schools, replacing Jack Martin. Mr. Earley had been the Emergency Manager for the City of Flint. We continue to have dialogue with the Emergency Manager and the Chief Financial Officer of the district.

BENTON HARBOR AREA SCHOOLS

The district has adopted a resolution choosing the consent agreement option pursuant to Section 8 of 2012, PA436, the Local Financial Stability and Choice Act. On September 23, 2014, the district' school board approved the consent agreement developed by the Department of Treasury and the district superintendent, pursuant to state statute. Treasury and the Department are working with the district to approve their Financial and Operating Plan submitted pursuant to the consent agreement.

FLINT COMMUNITY SCHOOLS
On December 26, 2014, I approved the district's request to extend their DEP through 2020-2021. This approval was largely based on the continued support provided by the Mott Foundation and the substantial contributions made by all district employees. As I remain very concerned about the district's serious financial state, the Department continues to have weekly contact with the district.

SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF SAGINAW
The district's current DEP includes closing one of their high schools. On February 18, 2015, the board tabled a vote on the interim superintendent's recommendation to close Saginaw High School. The district has a purchase agreement to sell the former Buena Vista High School to Pansophic Learning. The board also voted to demolish the Phoenix Science & Technology Center, but has subsequently rescinded that decision and placed the building back on the market. The district has made a counter-offer to the interested parties. While the sale of either of these buildings could possibly eliminate the deficit this year, it is important to remember that these are one-time events and have no impact on future budgets. The board must continue to make the tough decisions in order to right-size the district and maintain a balanced budget.

FINANCIAL INDEPENDENCE TEAM LEGISLATION
Legislation to develop policy and procedures to address districts and PSAs that trigger "early warning" indicators of financial stress did not pass the last legislation session. The Governor's Executive Recommendation for 2015-16 includes similar language The Department is awaiting the outcome of the proposals.

FINANCIAL ANALYSIS OF MICHIGAN DEFICIT SCHOOL DISTRICTS PROJECTED 2014-2015

An analysis of the projected fiscal year 2014-2015 (FY2015) financial data has been completed for those districts that ended fiscal year 2014 (FY2014) with a deficit. The analysis is conducted using data collected from Deficit Elimination Plans (DEPs) and required monthly budget control reports.

Fifty-eight (58) districts and public school academies ended FY2014 in a deficit position. Two public school academies closed at the end of FY2014. Attachment B lists the remaining 56 districts and public school academies that ended FY2014 in a deficit position. Fifty-two (52) districts and public school academies ended FY2013 in a deficit position.

Of the 56 operating districts that ended FY2014 in deficit (including the four listed on page 5), Nineteen (19) are projecting to successfully eliminate their deficit by June 30, 2015 (Attachment B, Category 1). Twenty-seven (27) are projecting to reduce their deficit in FY2015 (Attachment B, Category 2). Eight (8) are projecting to increase their deficit in FY2015 (Attachment B, Category 3). Two (2) districts that ended FY2014 in deficit were converted to public school academy systems in FY2013. The predecessor local districts' deficits are being eliminated through the capture of school operating taxes (Attachment B, Category 5).

Attachment B also includes fund balance information for June 30, 2013 and June 30, 2014.

At this time, we are not aware of any districts that began FY2015 with a positive fund balance and are projecting to end the year with a deficit fund balance (Attachment B, Category 4). That number may change as the year progresses and the districts submit their annual financial data due on October 15, 2015.

NOTE: The 2014-15 data in this report are projections from the districts and are subject to change as the fiscal year progresses.

CITY OF FLINT

Dayne Walling
Mayor

September 14, 2015

The Honorable Rick Snyder
Governor, State of Michigan
P.O. Box 30013
Lansing, MI 48909

RE: Call for Additional Support for Flint Water Improvement Plan

Dear Governor Snyder:

On behalf of the Flint community, I am writing with a renewed request for additional support to address Flint's water challenges to ensure that water is affordable and secure for everyone in Flint especially our vulnerable populations. I am asking for an additional $30 million in funds for Flint's infrastructure and a new healthy homes initiative.

Significant progress has been made throughout this year to increase water safety and quality and I thank you for the involvement of your office, the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality, and the Michigan Department of Treasury. A majority of items in the Water Improvement Plan are completed or underway. Most importantly, Flint is now in compliance with the Safe Drinking Water Act due in large part to the installation of the new carbon filter. The infrastructure systems are being made more secure and efficient through the State grants. Now the City is committed to following the recommendation of the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality to optimize the treatment process, reduce corrosion and further minimize risks from lead.

The need to accelerate the City's capital improvement investments remains and has been further increased by the continued financial stress and legal issues. Previously I requested support for replacement or forgiveness of payment to the Drinking Water Revolving Loan Fund due to Flint's status as a distressed community and the gap in funding in the adopted capital improvement plan. I understand that the existing federal law does not allow the existing Drinking Water Revolving Loans that Flint is carrying to be forgiven in retrospect but the need still exists. Flint owes approximately $20 Million. One solution is for the State to grant a new $20 Million that is designed as forgivable from the start. Another solution is to provide equivalent funding through an expansion of the grant program to Michigan's Financially Distressed Cities, Villages and Townships with a supplemental budget amendment in cooperation with the State Legislature.

The community's heightened concern about lead leeching into the water from old service lines and home plumbing also needs to be addressed. We know that lead is an environmental contaminant and there have been many programs in place over the years to address sources in paint and pipes. Flint needs a new healthy homes initiative specifically focused on lead in water with $10 Million to start the process of replacing service lines for the most vulnerable households. Regardless of the source and treatment of Flint's water, this long term threat of lead in pipes needs to be removed in the interest of public health.

My approach continues to be to work with you and your appointed officials, State Senator Ananich, State Representatives Phelps and Neeley, Congressman Kildee, community groups, businesses, churches, foundations, the Flint City Council, and all of the City of Flint and State and Federal government personnel. We need every available expert and resource to address Flint's water problems.

Flint's safety is my top priority. Just as the City and State have worked together on public safety, we need additional support for fixing the water problems. We need $30 Million in new funds to repair and update the city-wide infrastructure and to assist households in becoming lead-free. The entire Flint community deserves sustainable, safe, secure and affordable water now and into the future. Thank you for the consideration Governor and I look forward to future discussions.

Sincerely,

Dayne Walling

Just following up in writing for all, of what I verbally communicated to John and Nancy just minutes ago.

Specifically, my conversations with MSP, and research into the Emergency Management Act, and Emergency Powers of the Governor (PA's 390 of 1976, and 302 of 1945 respectively), have yielded that there is nothing preventing the Executive from exercising his/her power to declare an emergency for a municipality on their own should they so choose.

However, no precedence exists for such action, and actually, locals historically, have enacted their own emergency declaration procedures prior to soliciting support of the Executive. In the case of Flint, no such action has occurred, and in fact, their Emergency Operations Center is closed. . .

It appears as well, that the Emergency Manager for the City of Flint up until today, was not aware of the water problem existing in the area.

Drinking water revolving loan fund – this program is a loan program and as such we can't loan money to ourselves. Even if we wanted to loan Flint money, the bylaws for the program stated it can only be used for infrastructure improvements and this would not qualify.

SAW grants – this grant program is only for stormwater and wastewater grants – not drinking water grants.

The Majority Leader would like to request that the Health Endowment Fund cover all or most of the State share of the Flint water appropriation. We didn't talk too much about this before the supplemental because we didn't want to give a reason for people to delay or vote no. But now that it's done, we'd like to do something. If the HEF can give the money to Flint then we should be able to hold back some of what we just appropriated, right John?

Would the Governor or Speaker be interested in joining Arlan in making this request?

Re: FY`16 Flint water supplemental requests:

- Can some/all of the water system $3.9M request be handled as one-time FY17 funding? Yes but only if the locals agree to pay for the 1st half first (locals would pay for July, Aug, & Sept and State would pay for Oct, Nov and Dec). However, DEQ needs to verify that the Karegnondi Water Authority pipeline will be completed by December 2016. And, as a point of clarification, is the money needed to keep them on the Detroit system until the new system is ready? Yes, it is to keep them on the Detroit system. Or to hook them up to the new system? Also, we're there some on conditions on the first Flint water supplemental? Yes. Have those conditions been met? Yes, Amy will send copies of the agreement required by boilerplate.

- The $3M ongoing funding request for testing, expertise, etc needs to get on the FY17 investment list.

Funding Placeholder For Flint Water Supply Added In Senate

A supplemental appropriations bill passed in the Senate included a $100 placeholder for potential solutions to address the city of Flint's water supply.

HB 4102, which passed on the Senate floor 30-5 today, was amended on the floor by Senate Minority Leader Jim ANANICH (D-Flint) to include a placeholder appropriation as state and local officials assess exactly how much the city might need to fix the issue.

A recently published study found lead levels in children's blood have increased since the city switched off of Detroit's water supply, instead drawing from the Flint River -- the latest news in an ongoing controversy over whether the Flint River water is safe for public consumption.

In response, Ananich created a website informing residents about what to do if they suspect too-high lead levels in their water and has pushed fellow lawmakers and the administration to act (See "Ananich Urges Snyder To Get Involved With Flint Water Situation," 9/28/15).

Republican lawmakers in the Senate were generally supportive of Ananich's efforts to leave the option of state assistance to Flint open as discussions continue.

"They have a public health issue, and (Ananich is) working with the administration trying to find some sort of solution," Senate Majority Leader Arlan MEEKHOF (R-West Olive) said.

Meekhof said he doesn't know that there is one particular solution yet available, but opined that there are likely several issues contributing to the current discontent with Flint's water.

"I'm not the biologist there to say what is or isn't the right water to use," he said.

Gov. Rick SNYDER has said his administration plans to announce additional details on how the state will move forward in the near future.

Other lawmakers and groups have also insisted state and federal officials take the matter more seriously.

State Rep. Phil PHELPS (D-Flushing) asked for and was denied a Freedom of Information Act request for information relating to the issue, and ACLU Michigan today announced a coalition of local and national groups have petitioned the Environmental Protection Agency to take emergency action.

Sens. Phil PAVLOV (R-St. Clair), Tonya SCHUITMAKER (R-Lawton), Patrick COLBECK (R-Canton), Judy EMMONS (R-Sheridan) and Joe HUNE (R-Hamburg) voted against the amended bill.

HB 4102 also gives the Michigan State Police funding for a $7.7 million settlement for a crash between a police trooper and a vehicle that resulted in the death of one woman and injuries to two others, $1 million of which will come from the state's Risk Management Revolving Fund. The rest will come from the General Fund (GF).

The supplemental also includes $6 million boilerplate re-appropriation for Fiscal Year (FY) 2015 in relation to the Business Application Modernization project that is currently the subject of a lawsuit between the state and HP, as well as $50,000 in GF dollars for the Criminal Justice Policy Commission.

Placeholder funding for an office consolidation issue in Sen. Tom CASPERSON's (R-Escanaba) district was also added on the Senate floor.

Cotter: Leaders On `Good Pace' To Get Road Plan In October

House Speaker Kevin COTTER (R-Mt. Pleasant) says he believes legislative leaders are on pace to get a road-funding plan to the House floor some time this month.

Cotter said he's previously stated that he wanted to get bills to the floor in October.

"I think we're on a good pace to do that," Cotter told reporters after session this afternoon.

Gov. Rick SNYDER and quadrant leaders of the House Republicans, House Democrats, Senate Republicans and Senate Democrats have been meeting on and off for weeks now to try to develop a $1.2 billion road-funding deal.

There were two meetings this week. And leaders said yesterday that they believe they're making progress and are "close" to an agreement (See "As Road Talks Press On, Some Dems Push Prevailing Wage, Tax Relief," 9/30/15).

Leaders are currently working on a plan that would feature about $800 million in new revenue and $400 million in existing state dollars shifted to roads.

And Cotter told reporters today he "may be able" to support a plan that includes $800 million in new revenue.

"For me it's not just about the proportion, how much is new revenue, how much is General Fund, but all of the details that go into making up a package," Cotter said.

Asked if the Health Insurance Claims Assessment, another big budget pressure that could make shifting funds to roads more difficult, is still on the table as part of the negotiations, Cotter responded, "I've been one that has said let's keep this about the roads."

He added, "I am hesitant to complicate one priority with another."

On the subject of how close leaders are to a deal, Cotter said he believes it will be reached in a period of weeks not months.

Asked about Cotter's statement that a deal could be reached in October, Katie CAREY, spokesperson for the House Democrats, said, "We certainly hope so."

We did get a call from Senate Fiscal asking about this. We don't know anything about it. In the meeting with the Governor this afternoon he asked DHHS to look into changing a policy to access Emergency Service money and he asked Treasury to see if there was any Distressed Communities money that could go towards purchasing water filters.

Do you know how much money or where he is looking for money?

John,

DEQ has a Cleanup & Redevelopment Fund (CRF) - funded with Bottle Deposit Revenue – available as a source to assist with the Flint water filter matter.

Both the agency and myself, believe we can legally utilize this source for filter purchases. The issue is to what degree the CRF fund balance can be tapped, and what impact it has on out year programming efforts.

I've recommend another fund source for their consideration as well, namely; the Environmental Protection Fund (EPF), which can legally be used for everything under the sun related to environmental matters. There is a $1.8 million fund balance there, which I've asked them to explore. Between the two funds, I believe we can get to the $1.5 million ask.

Please note however, Dir. Wyant has indicated that he spoke with Dir. Lyon earlier in the day and DHHS has agreed to commit Public Health funding resources towards the $1.5 million ask of Sen. Ananich for filter purchase.

Given such, my question back to DEQ was whether we can utilize any of the aforementioned resources towards the second ask of the Senator, specifically, the $12 million for connect to Lake Huron. DEQ believes the CRF may not qualify, as we have no environmental cleanup involved, however, the EPF may be an option.

The agency will circle back with Dir. Wyant to gauge his comfort level. It also, sounds as if DEQ has outlined a plan with the Executive to address which will be released later in the week.

Here is the letter from the Genesee Co Drain Commission. My interpretation of the contents would be their estimate is $13.2mm (vs the $12mm discussed this morning).

They included their contract with the City. Sec 5.7 references prevailing rates the City would be charged; that is different than the rates reflected in the $13.2mm. So that contract may need to be modified.

They also raise some other items (under Procedure to Activate Supply – p.3) that may have cost implications.

MEMORANDUM

DATE: October 7, 2015

TO: Wayne Workman, Deputy Director, Treasury Department
Randall Byrne, State Administrative Manager

FROM: John F. O'Brien, P.E., Director

SUBJECT: Letter Dated September 30, 2015
Wolfson to Henderson

My staff and I have reviewed the letter referenced above and have prepared this quick memorandum to explain the economics concerns and ramifications of the temporary cessation of the Flint water treatment operations and the return to DWSD/GLWA supply.

This memorandum is broken down into three parts: economics, procedure and concerns.

Economics

Prior to April 2014, Flint held a water contract with DWSD. Flint also had the franchise rights to DWSD water for Genesee County. Therefore, Genesee County received DWSD water via the Flint. The water rate was calculated on that joint demand. In 2013-2014, the allocated cost was $25,303,062 or $738,066 per month plus $13.01 per mcf.

In 2013, DWSD terminated the Flint contract effective April 2014. The Flint chose to go to the Flint River as its source water until KWA water was made available. With the contract terminated, the franchise was terminated and the county had to go to DWSD for water because Flint could no longer supply DWSD water and the Flint River and the Flint water treatment plant does not have the capacity to serve both utilities.

DWSD established a new rate for GCDC that included significant non-contract and non-member charges to access the water. GCDC also acquired approximately 9 miles of water main pipe from the Flint. (The Detroit water meter at the county line between Lapeer and Genesee and the Flint water plant is approximately 11 miles into the county.) The pipeline is of no use to Flint under the Flint River supply or KWA supply scenario. As part of the purchase agreement, language was included for emergency reconnection for Flint to DWSD through this water line.

GCDC water rates with DWSD are as follows:

	Fixed Monthly	Commodity
July 2013 – April 2014 (Flint Contract)	$346,863	$13.01
May 2014 – June 2014	$423,400	$15.18
July 2014 – June 2015	$1,149,400	$3.89
July 2015 – Present	$900,000	$11.86

As you can see, the fixed monthly fees and commodity fees have had significant swings. This is because under the Flint contract, only 40% of revenue was fixed. GCDC went to 80% and are now 60% for the current billing period.

Upon reviewing DWSD's letter of September 2015, DWSD went back to the 2013-2014 rate, added 4% for FY 14-15 and added approximately 11.3% for FY 15-16. This would create a water revenue requirement for a combined Flint/Genesee supply. In Section 1 d) of the letter, they state they would subtract GCDC current payments from that volume, leaving the amount to be paid by Flint. Remember, GCDC is paying the non-contract/non-customer penalty charges.

The reported rate would be $662,100 monthly fixed and $8.93/mcf commodity. Based on 15 million gallons a day and a 30 day month, the monthly charge would be:

$662,100 + 15,000,000 gal x 30 days x 1 mcf / 7,480 gallons x $8.93 / mcf

$662,100 + $537,232.62 = $1,199,332.62 per month

Flint, over the last two seasons, has seen periods of water flow in the 20 to 25 mgd range due to water main breaks. This period has lasted 2 to 3 months. What is the additional cost if the monthly average was 21 mgd?

6,000,000 x 30 / 7,480 x $8.93 / mcf = $214,893.04 per month

The only way for DWSD to provide water to Flint is a common meter at the county line and flow through a county water main. As previously stated, the Flint and GCDC have a contract regarding this potential circumstance (see 5.7 attached).

Assuming the fixed rate by DWSD is correct, the cost with the current commodity would be:

$662,100 + 15,000,000 x 30 / 7,480 x $11.86 = $1,375,602.67

And again, with water main breaks, the additional monthly cost would be $285,401.00.

Paragraph 1 d) of the DWSD letter recognizes this issue in the last sentence: "Depending on how water is provided to the combined GCDC/Flint customer, alternative rate structures may be appropriate."

We can back into that alternate rate based on our knowledge of the DWSD rate structure. DWSD wants 60% of its revenue from fixed rate.

		Volume per month
GCDC fixed	$900,000	49,428 mcf
Flint fixed	$662,100	50,590 mcf
TOTAL	$1,562,100	100,018 mcf

Total commodity required is $1,041,400
Rate based on volume $10.41would be the alternative rate

The adjusted rate for Flint would then be:

50% of fixed rate plus $10.41 per mcf
$781,050 + $15,000,000 + 30 / 7,480 x $10.41 = $1,407,320

And again, at this rate, the water main break situation could add $250,508 per month

Therefore, Flint's expected bill for DWSD supplied water for a nine month period with 2 months of high flow would be $13,166,896.

Procedure to Activate Supply

1. Agreement with DWSD and common rate for joint GCDC/Flint water supply would be required. Agreement needs to include separate billings to Flint and GCDC, Flint to pay directly to DWSD based on meter readings at Baxter and Potter and Station 2 on Flint plant site. GCDC makes no representation to the water quality - that is between Flint and DWSD. The agreement needs a termination transfer protocol for Flint exiting and GCDC remaining.

2. Separate agreement with Flint: back up supply was anticipated on an emergency basis. Nine months to a year of service requires a more detailed agreement. Water outage due to line break and cost to repair, etc. The agreement needs a termination clause if Flint is still on DWSD when GCDC is ready to turn on its water treatment plant in the fall of 2017.

3. The 72-inch line will be required to be reactivated. This will require flushing, pressure testing, and BAC-T sampling.

4. Station 2 meter needs to be calibrated and GCDC will need access to control the valves and read the meters.

5. Flint needs to reactivate the Dort Reservoir.

6. Flint should perform a significant water flush of the distribution system just prior to the switch over.

Flint Distribution System

The TTHM and lead issues here arising due to the water quality at the residential tap: Everyone agrees that the water leaving the water plant is clean, clear, and lead-free. At the residential tap, it has been shown to contain lead, is often brown in color, and has an odor. These are all indications of problems in the distribution system. The distribution system was built for a population of 250,000 people and major industrial use. Current population is below 100,000 and there is limited industrial use.

If Flint does not continue to make improvements/modifications to the distribution system, the problem at the residential tap will continue.

Concerns

Will the lead sampling protocols change based on Flint's switch back to DWSD?

What happens to water treatment plant personnel during this 9-month period? Will they be laid off or carried as an additional expense?

When Flint switches to KWA, will the staff be capable of treating the water or will the learning curve begin again?

What is the Desired Outcome?

It is the understanding of GCDC that all of the current samples that have been compiled at the Flint Water Treatment Plant have all tested within EPA and MDEQ guidelines. The emergency appears to be in the distribution of the water, which includes lead service leads to several residences located throughout Flint and not in the treatment of the water. As the treated water leaving the Flint Water Treatment Plant is within EPA and MDEQ guidelines, GCDC is confused as to what the emergency is at this time or why Flint would need to purchase water from DWSD. The quality of the water leaving the Flint Water Treatment Plant is as safe to drink as the water that would be transmitted by DWSD to Flint.

Given the facts as they have been provided to GCDC, if DWSD begins to supply Flint with water via GCDC, the elevated lead levels will not immediately disappear and Flint will be paying an additional million dollars plus a month over what it is currently paying to provide the same clean potable water to its residents. Additionally, by Flint receiving water from DWSD via GCDC, Flint will not be performing corrosion control measures on the DWSD treated water. This is important because once Flint begins to treat the raw water provided by KWA, the lead issue may resurface and continue until the corrosion control measures that will need to be restarted take effect, which GCDC estimates may take up to eight (8) months to establish the necessary film to separate the distribution system from the supply water.

The DWSD letter purposely pits Flint against Genesee County customers by offering a lower rate to Flint than is currently being offered to GCDC. And the delivery point is the same.

These are our quick thoughts on the matter. As time progresses, we will have more time to understand the issues and most likely additional concerns will present themselves.

Should you have any questions, do not hesitate to contact this office at your convenience.

Subject: Flint Water Summary for Governor
Attachments: City of Flint Water Funding Solution.pdf

Importance: High

Attached is a summary of the funding commitments to address the Flint Water situation. The total state commitment is $10.4m; $7.9m of that amount is GF/GP. [The DHHS number needs to be verified tomorrow morning, but the final number should be close to this estimate.]

The funding will address 4 priority areas:

1. Provision of filters for residential service;

2. 50% of the estimated cost to reconnect temporarily to the Detroit Water System;

3. Funding for testing water samples; and

4. Other state assistance (e.g., home/school/health facility inspections and follow-up for children with elevated blood levels).

We are preparing a formal supplemental request to transmit to the Legislature tomorrow. John intends to talk with Rep. Pscholka and Sen. Hildenbrand about including this funding in HB 4102, the pending supplemental bill now awaiting House concurrence. Assuming that they agree, we would ask for final action next week.

Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns about our planned approach.

We understand nothing can be done about this in the current supplemental and we may need to stretch out our tests over time as limited staff permits. Sue,

Linda was on a call this morning with DEQ and Flint's Public Works director. During the call the DEQ staff indicated Wyant told them to prepare an army given that schools statewide will be encouraged to assess lead levels in drinking water.

I think MDHHS leadership needs to be made aware that we have a squadron but not an army. The submitted budget for the Flint situation includes an 0.2 or 0.25 FTE for toxicology but it can't be stretched to provide technical assistance for a statewide process.

State officials plan to contact all schools in the state, urging them to assess their lead levels in drinking water. Facilities built in the last quarter-century are unlikely to have lead issues, but others built before the mid-1980s may have lead connections and could be a problem, according to the agency.

"Schools that have lead infrastructure should be testing," Wyant said.

I think the stature John mentioned was the Drinking Water Revolving Fund. Currently funds cannot be used for remediation at private facilities (only for remediation at public facilities). Administration is thinking about removing that limitation.

NOTE: It's still a loan. Borrower is still the local water authority. May need federal law changes as well.

This is what I've been told so far about alternate funding sources for Flint.

- Drinking water revolving loan fund – this program is a loan program and as such we can't loan money to ourselves. Even if we wanted to loan Flint money, the bylaws for the program stated it can only be used for infrastructure improvements and this would not qualify.

- SAW grants – this grant program is only for stormwater and wastewater grants – not drinking water grants.

Tell the Republicans in Congress: Don't Dismantle Medicare

"Last week, House Republicans passed a plan to end Medicare and dismantle Medicaid. Medicare would be replaced by a voucher scheme that would put seniors at the mercy of big insurance company bureaucrats. States would have no choice but to significantly cut the safety and quality of nursing homes, putting America's seniors in danger of abuse and neglect. The Congressional Budget Office estimates the plan would dramatically increase healthcare costs for seniors."

Appeals Court Stays Order; Flint E.M. Returns To Power

The Court of Appeals has restored Flint Emergency Manager Michael Brown to operate under the provisions of 2011 PA 4 while it hears an expedited review of the Ingham Circuit Court ruling that threw out the emergency manager in that city.

The court issued an order Monday afternoon in Muma v. Flint Financial Review Team (COA docket No. 309260), setting the schedule for briefs in the appeal which would take place likely within a month. Following the schedule set in the order, all briefs and counter arguments would have to be completed within 21 days.

Ingham Circuit Judge Rosemarie Aquilina ruled that Mr. Brown could not continue in his role as emergency manager, appointed there by Governor Rick Snyder last fall, since the panel violated the Open Meetings Act. That put Flint Mayor Dayne Walling and the city council back in charge.

In its order, the court ruled Mr. Brown could operate under the powers of the emergency manager act during the pendency of the appeal.

4-3 Supreme Court Upholds Oakland County Redistricting

In what could be characterized as 4-3 Republican-Democratic split on the officially nonpartisan Supreme Court, the justices ruled a politically charged law ordering Oakland County to reapportion itself was constitutional.

That reapportionment process is scheduled to begin on Wednesday when 2011 PA 280 ({ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=legislation_billdetail.cfm&billid=2011HB518701" }) takes effect, and the process will be the second undertaken by the county since the 2010 census, but this reapportionment will be under the authority of the Republican-controlled county board of commissioners. The first reapportionment was overseen by the countywide officers, who are dominated by Democrats.

The decision, in Houston v. Snyder (SC docket No.144691), came as an order overturning a Court of Appeals decision that held the act was a local act and failed to meet the constitutional guidelines for enacting a local act.

The court heard arguments last week over whether to grant leave to appeal the decision. Instead of deciding to hold more arguments, the four-member majority ({ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=75601&locid=1" }, { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=114801&locid=1" }, { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=298201&locid=1" } and { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=148801&locid=1" }) said simply the act "is not a 'local' act in violation" of Article IV, Section 29 of the Constitution.

{ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/members/young05.jpg" }

{ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=75601&

locid=1" } sided with the majority; { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=114701&locid=1" } wrote the dissent.

The majority opinion in the order was not signed, so it is unknown who wrote the opinion.

However, { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=114701&locid=1" } clearly wrote the main dissent, joined by { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=151701&locid=1" } ({ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=153201&locid=1" } concurred in a separate short dissent), in which she said the only way in which 2011 PA 280 could be constitutional would be for the court to sever the section that requires Oakland County to begin to reapportion beginning on Wednesday, March 28.

"If it is possible to sever the constitutionally flawed section of a statute while the remainder of the statute could function, the court should sever the flawed section. That is what the Court of Appeals did in this case. This court should affirm its decision," Ms. Kelly wrote in her concluding comments.

The action passing the statute was one of the more politically charged in recent legislative history. The day before the Supreme Court heard the arguments, Frank Houston, the chief plaintiff in the case and the Oakland County Democratic Party chair, released emails the party had obtained under the Freedom of Information Act that showed that despite the argument of supporters that the measure would save money, it was clearly being pushed because Republicans wanted the act passed to protect their majority on the board.

Both the majority and dissent acknowledged the partisan nature of the law. Ms. Kelly simply referred to it as a "politically charged case."

The majority said the plaintiffs "made much" of the political nature of the act. But the majority decision also said in effect every reapportionment effort tries to provide a partisan advantage to one party or another. "Notwithstanding this reality," the court said, political motives cannot be a basis for rendering a decision on the constitutionality of the law.

A major difference between the majority and dissent was in reading the entirety of the statute. The majority cited previous decisions in saying that an effort to segregate a section would misinterpret legislative intent, and that a statute must be read so all the sections harmonize with themselves.

Ms. Kelly wrote that, "The whole, however read, cannot cure the constitutional flaw of one of its parts." The majority, she said, argues that because one part of the law is unconstitutional it can still be constitutional because the rest of the act is constitutional and that is not possible.

The two sides also differed on the specific date in the act and whether it made the act an unconstitutional local act (that would require approval by a two-thirds majority of the Legislature as well as the local public).

The majority held that the act included enacting conditions that meant it was open-ended enough that theoretically most counties could fall under its provisions. It also referred to an admission made by the plaintiff's counsel that if the act had been enacted before the first reapportionment had occurred, no constitutional question would be raised against the act.

The specific date implementing the required reapportionment process was part of the transitional nature of the act, the majority said. Oakland County was the only county affected beginning Wednesday, but that still did not render the measure a local act because every county "remains potentially subject in the future" to the act's requirements.

But Ms. Kelly argued it was the time frame, and the fact that as defined the only county that could be affected on Wednesday, March 28, would be Oakland County, made the provision a local act. "It is a date certain, and it will never occur again," she wrote. And where only one municipality at one specified time is affected, an act is effectively a local act, she said.

Reaction to the decision fell along predictable partisan lines. Democrats fumed that the Republican majority on the court was in the tank for Oakland County Republicans out of partisan loyalty, not impartial legal analysis.

"It's just another outrageous act by the Republican Party in Michigan," said Frank Houston, chair of the Oakland County Democratic Party. "It's clear that this Supreme Court has set aside legal precedent and our state Constitution all for Republican gain. Outraged would be one word for it. Even more, I think it's extreme disappointment that the Supreme Court would choose the politics of one party over the rule of law."

Mr. Houston said the statute clearly was a local act. Only Oakland County - now and in the future - could possibly qualify under the terms of the statute, he said.

Leading up to the decision, Mr. Houston said Republican attorneys told him legally, Democrats should expect to win, but politically, they should expect to lose.

A federal lawsuit is possible, Mr. Houston said. There also might be some aspects of Ingham Circuit Judge William Collette's ruling that the Supreme Court did not address upon which Democrats could seize.

But Oakland County Executive L. Brooks Patterson, who led the effort to change the redistricting process in the county, said he simply went through the system to secure the legislation.

"Did we do anything illegal? Did we do anything improper?" he said. "You may not like the result, but it was all done by the rules, by the book."

That is more than the Oakland County Democratic Party can say, Mr. Patterson said, saying the local party remains tainted from the scandal that broke in 2010-11 in which the party's then chair and his then top staffer pleaded no contest to charges related to fraudulently filing the names of persons to run for office without their knowledge. The two were filing the names of people under the banner of a fake tea party with the goal of siphoning votes from Republican candidates.

However, the plot collapsed after the fraudulent activity was exposed and the fake tea party failed to secure ballot access.

Asked to respond to Democratic complaints that Oakland County Republicans, after not having control of the redistricting process for the first time ever, acted like sore losers by going to their Republican colleagues in the Legislature and { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=245801&locid=1" } to change the rules, Mr. Patterson said: "What we did was absolutely legally proper. Whether you like the end result depends on which political horse you're riding."

Democrats were unmoved. In response to a tweet from Mr. Patterson about how the county secured the statute legally, { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=151201&locid=1" } (D-Onondaga) tweeted in response, "Unethical and legal, yes."

Democratic Party Chair Mark Brewer branded the ruling as one to "allow GOP corruption." He took aim at the two Republican incumbents up for election on the 2012 ballot, { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=148801&locid=1" } and { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=114801&locid=1" }.

"Today, the Michigan Supreme Court has shown it is on the side of political corruption and not the rule of law. Two other lower courts have already declared this law unconstitutional, yet Republicans on the Supreme Court chose to ignore the law and the facts in order to permit Republican corruption," Mr. Brewer said in a statement. "This plan was set in motion months ago and email records prove that the sole intent was nothing more than a Republican power grab. Our justices should be standing up for the Constitution instead of promoting corruption. Voters will not forget this decision and will hold this Court accountable this November. Justices Markman and Zahra have once again proven they are nothing more than puppets of special interests."

State, Detroit Near Consent Agreement; Activists Drown Out Meeting

DETROIT - Enveloped in chaos, the state-appointed review team examining Detroit's finances declared before an unruly crowd the city is in a state of severe financial stress on Monday, paving the way for { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=245801&locid=1" } and the city to negotiate a consent agreement in next 10 days and avoid an emergency manager which all sides say they want to avoid.

If the two sides cannot reach a deal, then Mr. Snyder would likely have to name an emergency manager to take control of operations in Michigan's largest city. However, earlier today, Mr. Snyder was upbeat about the prospects of reaching an agreement. And { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=105001&locid=1" }, who for most of the hour and a half meeting at Cadillac Place could not be heard because the crowd was so loud, said the hope is to have a consent agreement in place by the end of the week.

The review team stopped short of declaring a financial emergency in the city, which usually is a prelude to the governor naming an emergency manager. If talks on a consent agreement fall apart, Mr. Snyder could still declare a financial emergency within 10 days and proceed down the path of naming a manager.

Racial undertones coursed through the crowd and throughout the meeting.

{ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/members/Snyder%20(2).jpg" }{ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=245801&locid=1" } was upbeat Monday about getting an agreement with Detroit officials on the city's finances.

Activist Minister Malik Shabazz, who is associated with the New Black Panther Nation, said this is white on black crime.

"This is white supremacy and we will fight you," Mr. Shabazz said. "Before we let you take over our city, we will burn it down first."

One man in the crowd stood up to address no one in particular and said he supported the city having an emergency manager, which the crowd turned on immediately. He was told to shut up and called an "Uncle Tom."

As he tried to explain himself, the crowd shouted "Tom!" over him and drowned him out.

Later in the meeting, with tensions running high, a man in the back of the room began yelling at a security guard for putting his hands on him.

Nearly everyone in the room turned their attention to the altercation as it played out, with no one listening or paying attention to the review team.

Before the meeting even began, the crowd got things started by shouting "No takeover!", a refrain that would be echoed later at various points in the meeting.

Well more than a dozen times, the crowd took over the meeting, shouting at the review team and over one another.

At first Mr. Dillon and the team waited for the crowd to stop chanting and then tried to move forward until the next interruption.

After numerous interruptions, Mr. Dillon said the team was just going to push through and if the crowd couldn't hear that was their fault.

He later called those shouting out "rude," which did not sit well with those doing the shouting.

Throughout the meeting the crowd took turns chanting "No takeover," "This is what Democracy looks like!", "Where's our money?", and then stopped the meeting for several minutes as they sang several verses of "We Shall Overcome."

One woman in the crowd chastised the review team saying they were "raping the city of Detroit."

Another focused her rage on Mr. Dillon, "You Democrat turned Republican!"

The crowd also turned on former Chief Justice Conrad Mallett, a member of the review team, for what the crowd saw as fixing up the mess of Mr. Dillon. One woman referred to Mr. Dillon as a "white man," and said Mr. Mallett was acting like a "good colored person."

"Don't do it Conrad!" the crowd shouted for about a minute.

During the public comment portion of the meeting, Mr. Shabazz said the city needs help from the state that it wants and deserves, "not the help that you want to impose upon us."

Even after the meeting, Mr. Shabazz continued to bellow as Mr. Dillon was meeting with reporters to explain what happened since it was so difficult to hear during the meeting.

"It's fascism...Damn the governor... worst governor we've ever had," Mr. Shabazz shouted over and over.

Mr. Dillon said during the course of negotiations, the state also introduced the idea of a project manager, who would handle the reform measures identified that need to take place. A chief financial officer would also be added.

The makeup of the nine-member advisory board was also altered. Instead of predominantly being made up of members the state had final say on, it would include four from the state, two from the mayor, two from the city council and one member agreed to by the mayor and the governor and approved by the city council.

During the meeting, the review team worked on its report to send to the governor and worked off a draft that Frederick Headen, director of the Department of Treasury's Local Government Services Bureau, had developed.

Some members of the team wanted nothing to do with it since they had no hand in writing it. Changes were made to the draft during the meeting and one page was deleted entirely. Mr. Dillon did not say what the contents of that page included.

Mr. Dillon said in the next 10 days, he and the governor are hopeful an agreement can be reached. He said the governor does not want to be in a situation where he has to declare an emergency.

"He does want a consent agreement," he said.

At a press conference earlier in the day, Mr. Snyder sounded upbeat about the prospects of a negotiated deal with the city.

"My role is not to run the city of Detroit," he said. "I don't want an emergency manager."

He said discussions between his administration and city officials are focusing on a deficit elimination plan that they are calling a "financial stability agreement," because the city did not want a consent agreement.

Mr. Snyder said he wants some additional elements added to the deficit elimination plan that would qualify it as a consent agreement under Public Act 4 of 2011 ({ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=legislation_billdetail.cfm&billid=2011HB421401" }). One of the additions would be to give Detroit Mayor Dave Bing some of the expanded powers provided under that statute.

Mr. Bing remains hospitalized after undergoing surgery this weekend for a perforated intestine. Mr. Snyder said he has not spoken with Mr. Bing, but has sent flowers. He said he met with six of the nine city council members Monday and his staff continues to meet with Mr. Bing's staff. He called the meetings with city officials productive and said they have not been adversarial.

In a joint statement released late Monday afternoon, Deputy Mayor Kirk Lewis and Detroit City Council President Charles Pugh said significant progress is being made to develop a financial stability agreement "to restore Detroit fiscally and preserve the democratic process."

"The Mayor's Office and City Council have agreed not to discuss details until a final agreement is reached. Our goal is to have an agreement by the end of the week," the statement read.

The statement also said the mayor and the majority of the council are not in favor of a consent agreement. That might explain why officials keep calling the plan under discussion a "financial stability agreement."

Mr. Snyder said he hopes the city council will have the ability to see something in writing before its meeting on Tuesday, but he isn't putting any pressure on them to approve a deal then because he wants them to be comfortable.

"It's a serious agreement," he said.

Mr. Bing and the city council roundly rejected Mr. Snyder's proposed consent agreement earlier this month, because it called for a financial review team to take authority for city's fiscal situation.

The city council's counterproposal calls for the financial review team to advise the mayor and city council on fiscal issues, as well as asks the state to provide more than $130 million in immediate funding for the city and to assist it in collecting taxes from non-resident workers in the city.

Whether the two sides could enter into a consent agreement was in doubt until Friday evening when the Court of Appeals unanimously overturned an Ingham Circuit Court judge's prohibition on the city of Detroit and the state entering into such an agreement.

Also on Friday, a coalition of 30 of the nearly 50 labor unions that represent city of Detroit workers announced they had ratified concessions negotiated with Detroit Mayor Dave Bing.

The concessions would save the city $54 million a year, but Mr. Snyder and Mr. Dillon had made clear that was not nearly enough to resolve the city's cash crisis.

"Detroit's finances are in a very difficult shape," Mr. Snyder said. "Times are very difficult in Detroit and we need to all work together to get to financial stability."

There are three things the city needs, Mr. Snyder said. Detroit needs to get its finances stable and moving in a positive direction, do a better job of providing basic services for the residents and grow the city.

"The long-term answer to Detroit's issues is a growing Detroit," he said.

Senate Subcommittee To Raise Film Incentive To $40M

A Senate subcommittee will recommend increasing funding for the state's film incentive program from $25 million to $40 million.

The Senate Appropriations General Government Subcommittee is scheduled to approve the budget for a variety of smaller state departments and agencies Tuesday ({ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=legislation_billdetail.cfm&billid=2011SB95401" } ). There's been a significant change in the Senate target for that budget. Initially, Senate Republicans planned to spend $25 million less in that budget than { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=245801&locid=1" } recommended.

Now { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=50001&locid=1" } (R-Troy), the subcommittee chair, said the caucus has raised the target to $15 million more than Mr. Snyder's recommendation.

{ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/members/pappageorge.jpg" }{ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=50001&locid=1" } said the discussion on film incentive funding will continue.

Initially, { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=84601&locid=1" } (R-Saginaw Township), the Appropriations Committee chair, said the $25 million cut would be accomplished through halving { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=245801&locid=1" }'s $50 million recommendation to upgrade the state's information technology systems. But Mr. Pappageorge said Monday that he never planned on that big of a cut and instead will call for trimming the program to $48 million.

"We need that desperately," he said.

Mr. Pappageorge said bumping up the film incentive program to $40 million is designed to allow the conversation on that issue to continue.

In another switch from Mr. Snyder's budget, Mr. Pappageorge plans to handle revenue sharing to counties differently. Mr. Snyder had proposed requiring counties to follow a set of best practices to receive their funds, much like cities, villages and townships had to do starting with the current fiscal year.

However, Mr. Pappageorge said cities, villages and townships receive 80 percent of their revenue sharing from the constitutional formula and 20 percent through the Economic Vitality Incentive Program, while counties get no money through the Constitution. So he decided to wall off 80 percent of the county revenue sharing money and instead make just 20 percent of it subject to the EVIP program. And he set the funding for counties at the same level they received in the current year.

Other budget bills on the Senate side remain works in progress. In the higher education budget, the plan at this point is to retain the tuition restraint language Mr. Snyder recommended requiring universities to keep tuition increases below 4 percent to receive additional funding. However, no decision has been made on Mr. Snyder's proposal to allocate more funding to universities based on their success at meeting certain metrics. The Senate Appropriations Subcommittee is scheduled to vote Thursday on { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=legislation_billdetail.cfm&billid=2011SB95501" }.

The K-12 budget ({ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=legislation_billdetail.cfm&billid=2011SB96101" }) also is still gelling, said { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=73001&locid=1" } (R-Traverse City), the subcommittee chair. Mr. Walker said he is examining whether to place certain programs, namely the best practices funding incentive and payment for the Michigan Public School Employees Retirement System, that Mr. Snyder has recommended as categoricals instead into the foundation allowance.

Mr. Walker said the Senate is considering some new categories for the best practices program although he did not want to go into details.

In the Department of Education budget ({ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=legislation_billdetail.cfm&billid=2011SB95201" }), Mr. Walker has a target funding level $500,000 below Mr. Snyder's recommendation. He said that would be done by unrolling and reducing the administrative line. Mr. Walker said senators are unhappy with the lack of notice about Highland Park schools' financial crisis. The Legislature had to quickly approve funding that would allow the district's students to continue receiving their education through the Detroit Public Schools operating Highland Park school buildings or to provide funding to charter schools accepting students leaving the Highland Park system.

"We didn't hear about it until they needed an emergency appropriation, so we'd kind of like to see what's going on there in that line item," he said.

Court Of Appeals Rebuffs Ingham Circuit On E.M. Rulings

The Court of Appeals reined in a pair of rulings by two Ingham Circuit Court judges who took severe action to remedy what they said were violations of the Open Meetings Act by state-appointed review teams that examined problems in the Detroit and Flint city governments.

Monday, the Court of Appeals overturned Ingham Circuit Judge Rosemarie Aquilina's ruling that ousted Flint Emergency Manager Michael Brown from power and placed Flint Mayor Dayne Walling and the city council back in charge. The court granted the state's request for a stay on that portion of Ms. Aquilina's decision, and Mr. Brown returns to power while the case is resolved.

Also Monday, union activist Robert Davis filed an emergency appeal with the Supreme Court after the Court of Appeals' ruling late Friday evening that overturned Ingham Circuit Court Judge William Collette's decision that the state and city could not enter into a consent agreement to fix the city's finances until he held a hearing Thursday on whether the review team should be held in contempt for violating the Open Meetings Act.

Mr. Davis urged a decision by the court by Tuesday so that the hearing could proceed.

The three-judge panel held that Mr. Collette can only bar action by the review team if there is additional evidence that it violated the Open Meetings Act. The court stayed all other aspects of Mr. Collette's March 20 ruling and barred him from holding any other hearings on the issue, including the Thursday hearing.

The court further held the application for leave to appeal Mr. Collette's ruling in abeyance pending further order and retained jurisdiction.

The judges on the panel were { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=109001&locid=1" }, { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=109201&locid=1" } and { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=153101&locid=1" }. The same three judges also heard the Flint case. Mr. Kelly and Mr. O'Connell were both elected directly to the court and are generally considered independent. Mr. Whitbeck was appointed to the court by former Governor John Engler, but also is not considered a conservative firebrand.

In the Flint case, the court ordered the sides to conclude filing briefs within 21 days.

Senate Expected To Run Bill Repealing Mandatory Helmet Law

Senate Republicans apparently have decided they will no longer wait for a comprehensive auto insurance reform bill and instead will pass legislation repealing the state's longtime requirement that motorcyclists wear helmets.

The Senate is expected to take up the helmet law repeal ({ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=legislation_billdetail.cfm&billid=2011SB29101" }) on Thursday, said Senate Republican spokesperson Amber McCann. { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=245801&locid=1" } has said he prefers to deal with the helmet issue as part of an overall insurance legislative package that addresses unlimited medical benefits for those with catastrophic injuries ({ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=legislation_billdetail.cfm&billid=2011HB493601" }).

But that legislation appears to be in serious trouble on the House floor, where it has been stuck for months.

Additionally, on Tuesday, the Senate will vote on a bill ({ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=legislation_billdetail.cfm&billid=2011SB35101" }) that would direct sales tax revenues from gasoline purchases to roads, Ms. McCann said.

Supreme Court Declines Schuette's Request To Bypass Court Of Appeals In Same-Sex Benefits Case

The Supreme Court overwhelmingly rejected a request from { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=77201&locid=1" } that it directly hear his case against the Civil Service Commission's awarding of benefits to unrelated adults living with state employees and bypass the Court of Appeals.

Last May, Mr. Schuette challenged the legality of the Civil Service Commission's action, asserting that it exceeded the commission's authority and violated the rights of family members of state employees who are not eligible for benefits because it allows non-family members to be eligible. Under the policy, one unrelated adult living with a state employee can receive state health benefits, as can any dependents of that adult.

Mr. Schuette later asked the Supreme Court to take up the case, bypassing the Court of Appeals, out of concern that the case would take too long to work its way through the system.

The Supreme Court rejected Mr. Schuette's request on an 8-1 vote in an order dated Friday, but released Saturday (SC Docket 144184). { HYPERLINK

"http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=114801&locid=1" } dissented, saying the case warranted expedited consideration.

"Individuals and communities that are immediately affected, as well as the citizenry generally, whose constitution is at issue, are entitled to dispositive resolutions of these disputes in a reasonably facilitated manner," Mr. Markman wrote. "I would have treated each of these disputes as priority matters for our consideration."

Split Supreme Court Rules Arson Case Can Be Reheard

A directed verdict is not necessarily a resolution of the factual matters of a case, and therefore a criminal defendant can be tried a second time even after a directed verdict favoring him without violating the double jeopardy provisions in the U.S. and Michigan constitutions, the Supreme Court ruled Monday in a 4-3 split decision.

The minority in the decision in People v. Evans ({ HYPERLINK "http://courts.michigan.gov/supremecourt/Clerk/11-12-Term-Opinions/141381.pdf" \t "blank" }) charged the majority had overturned a 1996 opinion of the court that was based on a U.S. Supreme Court decision and did so without a persuasive argument.

But { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=148801&locid=1" }, who wrote the majority opinion in the case, said it was undetermined if the 1996 case, People v. Nix, was correctly decided.

A directed verdict can only be considered an acquittal to avoid the double jeopardy provisions if it resolves at least some of the factual elements charged in the case, Mr. Zahra said in the opinion joined by { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=75601&locid=1" }, { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=114801&locid=1" } and { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=298201&locid=1" }.

The case involved Lamar Evans, who was accused of burning a building, which was an unoccupied house. Mr. Zahra said the trial court, the Wayne Circuit Court, added an incorrect element to the case - whether or not the house was occupied.

Based on that decision, the trial judge issued a directed verdict in favor of Mr. Evans.

The prosecution appealed, arguing it did not have to show whether the property was occupied, and the Court of Appeals held that the trial court had erred. It ordered a new trial in the case.

Mr. Evans appealed, arguing a second trial would violate his rights against double jeopardy.

But Mr. Zahra wrote, "We hold that when a trial court grants a defendant's motion for a directed verdict on the basis of an error of law that did not resolve any factual element of the charged offense, the trial court's ruling does not constitute an acquittal for the purposes of double jeopardy and retrial is therefore not barred."

To prevent wrongly being retried under double jeopardy provisions of the U.S. and state constitutions, there has to be a resolution of the factual issues in the case, Mr. Zahra said. Even if that resolution is found later to be incorrect, if the factual matters are resolved, then double jeopardy protections are invoked, he said.

In this matter, Mr. Zahra said, the directed verdict did not resolve any of the factual matters in the case because the verdict was based on an incorrect element that was not part of the factual basis of the crime. It was based on an error of law and not to the elements of the defendant's innocence or guilt, he said.

Mr. Zahra acknowledged that the 1996 Nix case would have barred retrial, but said that case's application to another case did not consider whether it was correctly determined in the first place.

{ HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=151701&locid=1" }, joined by { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=114701&locid=1" }, dissented, saying the decision essentially overruled Nix, which he argued was based on U.S. Supreme Court principles. The majority creates a distinction in its ruling that acts to elevate form over substance, he said.

And { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=153201&locid=1" } dissented, arguing the Nix decision was the governing precedent in the matter.

Campaign Notes

S.E.I.U. ENDORSES RENEWABLE ENERGY BALLOT INITIATIVE: The Service Employees Union Michigan State Council announced Monday that it is backing the proposed constitutional amendment to require utility companies to generate 25 percent of their power from renewable resources by 2025. "Michigan workers and businesses have benefited from the renewable energy standard and the momentum for investments and jobs should continue," said SEIU Michigan State Council President Marge Robinson Faville in a statement. "Our members enthusiastically endorse this ballot initiative because it's good for families, good for public health and good for our economy."

HOOGENDYK/CAIN APPEARANCE: Former Rep. Jack Hoogendyk has endorsed former Republican presidential candidate Herman Cain's 9-9-9 tax plan, and the two are scheduled to appear together next week to promote Mr. Cain's plan and Mr. Hoogendyk's run for the U.S. House.

The events are planned for April 5 at 5:30 p.m. in Benton Harbor and at 7:30 p.m. in Kalamazoo. Venues for the events had not been announced as of Monday afternoon.

Mr. Hoogendyk is challenging { HYPERLINK "http://www.gongwer.com/index.cfm?link=bio.cfm&nameid=2401&locid=1" } (R-St. Joseph) for the 6th U.S. House District.

F.R.I.B. SUPPORT: The Facility for Rare Isotope Beams proposed for Michigan State University now has a website dedicated to urging support for its funding in Congress. Onevoiceforscience.com added a FRIB advocacy page created by East Lansing film and audio producer Doug Monson, who is currently working on a project for the National Academy of Science about investment in physics research nationally.

"FRIB is a good example of the kind of science investment the U.S. needs to stay competitive in the world economy," Mr. Monson said. "Isotope research in particular is a field where we already show strong leadership. It's a source of important innovations in medicine and material."

The project is also important to MSU's physics program and to the state's economy, Mr. Monson said.

PURE MICHIGAN/COCA-COLA PROMOTION: Pure Michigan scenes and logos will soon be appearing on Coca-Cola trucks and billboards around the state as part of a joint marketing campaign that includes national drawings for four vacation packages in the state.

The joint marketing campaign, announced Monday at the Pure Michigan Governor's Conference on Tourism, includes opportunities to win trips through the MyCokeRewards website. A trip to Mackinac Island will be available April 18 through May 9, to Traverse City May 9 through May 30, to the Pure Michigan 400 at Michigan International Speedway May 30 through June 20, and to Detroit June 20 through July 11.

"By joining forces with Pure Michigan, Coca-Cola is helping to support travel across the great state of Michigan and in all of its communities where we do business," said Matthew Barribeau, Coca-Cola's vice president of sales operations in Michigan. "Through this collaborative effort, we hope to not only drive economic development across the state, but to provide vacation-goers with moments of happiness and ice-cold refreshment all summer long."

"We are always looking for innovative ways to introduce Pure Michigan to new audiences and it doesn't get much bigger than partnering with an iconic brand like Coca-Cola," said George Zimmermann, vice president of Travel Michigan. "With more than 17 million people participating in MyCokeRewards, this is a perfect opportunity to showcase the scenic beauty, great cities and exciting events that make Michigan a terrific vacation destination."

M.E.D.C. HOSTING TRIBAL ECONOMIC FORUM: The Michigan Economic Development Corporation will host a forum for the third time geared toward economic development for Indian tribes. The forum will take place May 17-18 at the Radisson Hotel Lansing, 111 North Grand Avenue.
